JOSEPH CORDIA IS SENTENCED

Man Recently Acquitted of Murder Found Guilty of Abusing Minor Girl

Must Serve From Four to Six Years—Feci Wants New Trial

CAMBRIDGE, May 5.—Joseph Cordia, recently acquitted in Lowell as one of the principals of a murder case in Billerica, was arraigned before Judge Dubuque in the superior criminal court here today and on the indictment which charged him with abuse of a minor girl, was sentenced to serve from four to six years in state prison, sentence to start immediately.

Cordia had been indicted also on a charge of adultery, but this indictment against him was filed. Cordia was represented before Judge Dubuque by Attorney Daniel Donahue of Lowell. The Commonwealth was represented by District Attorney Nathan Tufis who recommended to Judge Dubuque that Cordia receive a sentence of from four to six years.

It was expected that the plea of Francisco Feci, found guilty of first degree murder in connection with the case in which Cordia was acquitted, for a new trial, might be heard this morning before Judge Dubuque.

The district attorney speaking in relation to this case, told the court that Feci was a prisoner in the state prison at Concord, and that the plea of a new trial, which was made on account of being obliged to appear at another court and that Attorney Sawyer had suggested that the plea for a new trial be heard sometime in September.

The district attorney objected to so long a postponement. It was left that Mr. Tufis will try to hold conference with Mr. Sawyer with a view of the case concerning a new trial, coming before Judge Dubuque tentatively on Monday, June 3.

SWAM CONCORD RIVER TO AVOID ARREST

Swimming across the Concord river fully clothed was the manner in which one Lowell young man escaped from the clutches of the law and order elements who broke up a crap game on the small peninsula which runs out from the foot of Wall street in Belvidere yesterday afternoon.

Two of his companions refused to escape by the water route, however, and as a result were haled before Judge Fisher in police court this morning and pleaded guilty to being present at a game on the Lord's day. Fines of $5 each were imposed. The names given by those arraigned were Richard Hayes and Orison Mann.

Case Continued

Charged with larceny of $10 from Frances Horne, Max Levine, who hails from the Irish, was called before the court today. A plea of not guilty was entered and a continuance granted for one week. It is alleged that Levine was in Puller's store Saturday night, and while there picked Horne's pockets to the extent of $10.

Other Offenders

Adelard DeForge, a young man still in his teens, was charged with breaking and entering the store of Julius Nadeau, 265 Woburn street and stealing cigars and candy. The alleged break occurred about a week ago. A plea of not guilty was entered and a continuance ordered until Friday, bail being set at $500. Ovia DeForge, a younger brother of the defendant, and who is also implicated in the complaint, will come before the juvenile session on this date.

Jean B. Patenaude was present on a drunkenness charge, and the case continued until tomorrow, bail being placed at $300.

George Magnavola was charged with an unlawful act and his case was also continued. The date set was May 12, and he was held in the sum of $400.

The probation officer did a rushing business this morning and as a result of his activities over a score of amateurs were given free passes.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL TO CLOSE FRIDAY

The Lowell Vocational school, both boys' and girls' departments, will be closed all day next Friday owing to the annual convention of vocational teachers to be held at the Boston trade school in Roxbury. All the teachers of the local school will attend and one of the principal speakers at the gathering which will embrace teachers from all over the state, will be Chester C. McDonald of the Lowell Vocational school, who will speak on "Productive Work" at the afternoon session.

A most interesting program has been outlined for the occasion and will consist of a morning session at 9.30, buffet luncheon at 12, an afternoon session at 1.30 and a banquet and evening session at 7 p. m.

LOWELL COPS TO QUIT LAWRENCE

All Police Work in Down River City Will Be Performed by Lawrence Men

Former Soldiers Replace Out of Town Officers—Machine Gun Crew Called

LAWRENCE, May 5.—A machine gun crew was added to the police force today and assisted in dispersing crowds of textile strike sympathizers, although the gun was not actually brought into use. Reports that strike leaders had arranged a big demonstration to signalize the opening of the 14th week of the strike had led the police to take extra precautions. It proved to be one of the most peaceful Monday mornings since the strike began.

The only call for help came from White and Oak streets, in the tenement district, where a crowd was annoying mill operatives on their way to work. The machine gun squad went along with a police detail sent there, but the crowd was dispersed with little difficulty. All the men of the gun crew are former soldiers. They were in police uniform and commanded by Sergeant Joseph Casey of Company F, 191st Regiment, who was decorated for bravery in France.

It is announced that hereafter all police work will be performed by Lawrence officers, and that the places of officers hired from other cities will be taken by former soldiers.

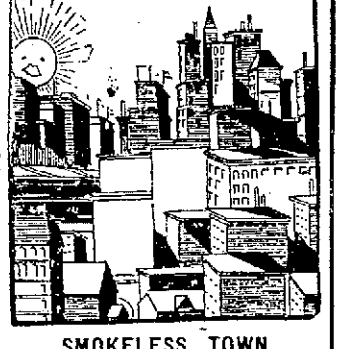

A trolley car containing mill workers was stoned and windows in the car broken but the police said no one was injured. Three arrests were made on minor charges during the morning.

LOWELL'S LOAN TOTAL GROWING

Central and Mechanics Savings Banks Make Additional Large Subscriptions

City Has Little More Than a Million and a Quarter To Raise This Week

With additional subscriptions of $200,000 by the Central Savings bank, $100,000 by the Mechanics Savings bank, $25,000 by the U. S. Worsted Co. and approximately $100,000 in individual purchases, Lowell's Victory loan total made a substantial advance this morning and now stands in the neighborhood of $3,700,000, with five more days to go. The further purchases by the Central and Mechanics banks raise their totals to $500,000 and $200,000 respectively. Another good bit of news came to light today with the subscription of $150,000 by the Silesia mills of North Chelmsford, which will be credited to the town of Chelmsford's quota. In addition to the bank tabulation, which is the official record of Lowell's progress, although there may be thousands of dollars promised which have not yet reached the banks, there can be added about $150,000 of corporation pledges which have not as yet been credited from Boston, so that the city has, as a matter of fact, all but $100,000 of four millions.

The Lowell committee announces this week as the zero hour locally—the time for attack, which will take the city up from the trenches and over the top. The number of subscribers must be largely increased during the next five days, and persons who have been holding off until the last few days must feel that the time to buy has arrived. Lowell is no farther behind than the other cities in New England, in fact in many instances the city is considerable in advance of neighboring communities, but this is a drive which cannot countenance waiting upon the other fellow, but each district must conduct its own little battle and emerge victorious. In the fourth Liberty loan drive Lowell had 32,000 subscribers, while today there are not 4000 in the present campaign. It is an individual issue from now on, the appeal must go on indiscriminately to the populace and unless a universal response comes from the every day man and woman the drive will fail.

Two towns in the North Middlesex district are over their quotas, Bedford and Dunstable. The latter town raised all its money last Wednesday night at a big mass meeting when Frank Hanchett, formerly of Lowell, matched the town people dollar for dollar, and the result was a big over-subscription for the town, amounting to more than $25,000 against a quota of $25,000.

The meeting of the town workers in Edison hall Wednesday night is sure to be a hummer and the main committee hopes for another million as was produced by last week's meeting. The division members are scratching hard these days, and the Boy Scouts start their mopping-up process this week in a house-to-house canvass. Hon. John Jacob Rogers will address the meeting and has a number of war facts which he has not as yet made public. Every town member is urged to attend.

The airplane feature planned by Captain Gilden of the air service, through which Lowell is threatened with prosperity, and by which a bale of southern cotton will be availed to the city, made into print cloth and taken back again by air line, has not been abandoned, and may become a reality before the drive comes to a close.

VICTORY LOAN

"The Victory Liberty loan campaign is two-thirds over but subscriptions have been reported for little more than one-third of the loan."

"Is it conceivable that the American people, who, with heart and soul waged the fight for freedom will permit this love of victory and thanksgiving to fail?"

"Our sons gave of their health, of their strength and of their lives that freedom might live. There are one and a half million American boys in France and Germany. Now that the war is ended it would be as reasonable for them to dishonor the nation by deserting the flag as for the nation to dishonor itself by deserting them. Is it a large thing that we are now asked to lend our money to pay the cost of victory? Is American money less willing than American manhood?"

"Let everyone of the millions who have bought Liberty Bonds buy Victory notes and success is sure."

Signed CARTER GLASS, Secretary of the Treasury.

BUDAPEST THE SCENE OF GREATEST PANIC

BERLIN, Sunday, May 4. (By the Associated Press).—Budapest is the scene of the greatest panic, according to dispatches. Recent statements on the situation by Bela Kun, the soviet foreign minister, have led to a complete disappearance of order. Red Guards have paraded the streets, threatening the bourgeoisie.

BANQUET AT THE STATE ARMORY

The first formal banquet to any of the Lowell units which took part in the world war will be given this evening at the state armory in Westford street, when the boys of Battery F 102d Field Artillery, hero of many a deadly scrap "over there," will be the featured guests of the battery auxiliary.

Among the speakers of the evening expected are Col. J. F. J. Herbert of Worcester, commander of the battery's regiment; Otto Hockmeyer, "godfather" of the battery; Capt. W. C. MacBryne, former officer of the outfit as well as various other military officials and municipal officers. Members of the battery and their immediate relatives will be present and it is expected that about 500 will attend. Following the banquet and speechmaking general dancing will be enjoyed.

REDS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES

Russian, British and American Forces Completely Repulse Bolsheviki

First Attack by Bolsheviki Gunboats on Dvina Repelled by Allies

ARCHANGEL, Friday, May 2 (By the Associated Press).—Allied forces succeeded yesterday in repulsing the first attack by Bolsheviki gunboats on the Dvina. The enemy fleet attempted to approach the positions held by American, British and Russian forces on the right bank of the river, but failed, the allies having guns mounted which covered all parts of the channel. Artillery fire continued from both the river Dvina and the Bolsheviki batteries at Tulgas, but up to this morning, no allied casualties were reported.

The ice was broken up in the river near Archangel and it is only a matter of a few days when the allied gunboats can force their way upstream and go to the aid of the allied land defenses.

On the Vaga sector the Bolsheviki suffered heavy losses yesterday when after a long bombardment they attacked the village of Bereznik, which was defended by Russian and British infantry and American engineers. Moving to the north of the village, the Bolsheviki infantry attempted to penetrate the allied wire entanglements. They were completely repulsed, leaving 30 or 40 dead in front of the wire defenses and more in the forest nearby.

Another enemy force which attempted to cut the allied line of communications east of the Vaga was also repulsed. Twenty of this party surrendered when surrounded by the allies. The allied casualties there yesterday were only four wounded.

Right Wings of NC-1 Destroyed—NC-4 Can Be Repaired For Start

NEW YORK, May 5.—Fire at the naval air station at Rockaway beach today damaged the naval seaplanes NC-1 and NC-4, which were to start tomorrow morning on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight.

The right wings of the NC-1 were destroyed. It is believed that the NC-4 can be repaired in time for the "jump off."

Commander Towers announced that the start for Newfoundland, where the trans-Atlantic flight is scheduled to begin, would be made tomorrow, weather permitting, with the NC-3 very likely with the NC-1 and possibly with the NC-4.

The blaze started from an electric spark which ignited gasoline on the NC-1. The flames enveloped the wings and spread to those of the NC-4, which occupied the same hangar. Air station employees extinguished the fire after slight damage had been done to the NC-4.

The blaze started when workmen were filling the gasoline tanks of the NC-1. Both the upper and lower right wings, which only recently were transferred to the machine from the NC-1, were burned from their frame-work.

LOWELL'S MEMORIAL DAY CELEBRATION

Plans are progressing for Lowell's celebration of Memorial day. A joint committee from the various G.A.R. posts of the city has been formed to stage the parade on the afternoon of the holiday. Dudley L. Page is chairman of this committee and Frank Coburn secretary. George E. Worthen has been chosen chief marshal.

The various sub-committees are as follows:

Memorial morning and Sunday services: Post Commanders Page, Flanders and Pevy; auditing: the three post commanders and Secretary Coburn; decoration of monuments: George E. Worthen, George E. Bryant and Thomas O. Regan; music for parade: Albert J. Gilman, John Harrington and John G. Parker; printing and invitations: Secretary Coburn; autos: William L. Dickey, Lucius A. Derby and L. F. Monroe; carriages: George E. Bryant, N. B. Lamonda and E. N. Grinnell; reception: Frank E. Rutley, Col. Albert Pinder and Capt. W. P. White, U.S.N.; flowers: William A. Arnold, Chester S. Goodwin and Thomas O. Regan; purchase of flags: A. J. Blaby; standards: George W. Hunt, A. J. Gilman and C. S. Goodwin.

The committee has extended an invitation to all uniformed organizations to turn out in the parade and as it will be the first Memorial day after the close of the great world war, it is hoped that all the services will be memorable ones. The latter will include special tributes to those who gave their lives in the world war. Organizations which intend to participate in the parade should notify Secretary Frank Coburn at his office 316 Bradley building, at once and also give the name of the member of the organization who is to serve on the staff of the chief marshal.

Clemenceau To Hand Treaty to German Foreign Minister on Thursday

(By the Associated Press)

Italy's delegation to the peace conference will return to Paris in time for the ceremony of handing the peace treaty to the German plenipotentiaries. This sudden change in the situation was announced in Paris today. Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino will leave Rome tonight and will arrive in Paris Wednesday morning. The Germans will be given the treaty at Versailles on Thursday.

Plenary Session Tomorrow

Announcement that the Italian delegates would return came quickly after it became known that the council of three had despatched a message to Rome.

The terms of the peace treaty will be made known to the smaller powers at a plenary session of the peace conference which was called today to meet tomorrow in the French foreign office.

PEACE TREATY TO BE PRESENTED THURSDAY

PARIS, May 5.—(By the Associated Press).—It is now certain, according to the French press that the treaty of peace will be solemnly handed to Count von Brockdorf-Rantzau, the German foreign minister, by Premier Clemenceau at Versailles on Thursday afternoon.

President Wilson expressed his belief yesterday to a member of the American delegation that the delivery of the treaty to the Germans could be made on tomorrow afternoon, but this ceremony will probably go over until a later day to give the Italians time.

ZOO CLUB PUTS ON SHOW FOR SALVATION ARMY

Though she called each a brother, she's more like a mother, Salvation lassie of mine.

Sang Edward Donahue at the Zoo club show given at the Lowell Opera House last evening, and when the last notes of this justly popular ballad which tells of the wonderful work of the Salvation lassies on the shell-torn fields of France and Flanders had died away the playhouse shook with applause. For among the audience, which last night filled this spacious theatre to the limit were many mothers, fathers, sweethearts and sisters of boys who had returned and told the story of the lassies and men, too—who were willing to serve, help and comfort to their utmost.

Perhaps this was why the Zoo club gave their show as a benefit performance to this great organization. And it was some show. "One of the best, if not the best amateur productions that Lowell has seen in years," was the way many of the audience commented on the entertainment as they started homeward. Harmony, pep, jazz and color were there in abundance, and each and every member of the cast, from the members of the chorus of 40 voices to the interpreter, went over the top and then some.

The show was in two parts, the first consisting of an olio of vaudeville acts in which both professional and local talent were featured, and this was followed by a musical assembly in one act entitled "A Night at the Zoo Club." Perhaps the biggest hit of the vaudeville program was the O'Reilly Family orchestra—and it certainly is a fine "jazz band" with little Miss Peggy O'Reilly occupying the stellar role. Peggy taps the drums, extrudes harmonies from a xylophone and when it comes to singing—well, just ask the audience. Peggy knows how to put over a popular song to perfection and her two numbers, "How You Going to Keep 'Em Down on the Farm?" and "Come On, Papa," were a real treat.

Following Peggy came Lowell's boy soprano, Bernard Knopf, and this youngster literally brought down the house. "St. St. Senor" was his first contribution, and his closing number, "You'll Find Old Dixie Land in France," was one of the gems of the evening.

Next came Alice Glenister, the popular little ingenue of the Emerson Players in "Without You," followed by Nana Gallagher Leahey in several pleasing selections. Florence Saxon, who needs no introduction to Lowell theatre-goers, sang "What a Time for the Girls When the Boys Come Marching Home," and was encored to the limit.

And then a demure little maid straight from old Japan flipped out behind the foot lights and Jane Salisbury, who has endeared herself to the hearts of Lowell people for several months as leading woman of the Emerson Players, sang "Japanelle." The Japanese maid disappeared and in her place came a little girl in a gingham gown who told how she had at last solved the way to spell "Mississippi." Miss Salisbury's numbers were splendidly given, and she merited the applause—and

Lowell Man Had Rheumatism 25 Years—Praises Goldine

Wm. Murphy, 30 Claire street, Lowell, who is cotton sampler at Massachusetts Mills and well known in this city, said:

"I have had rheumatism for 25 years. I have done everything I could but kept getting worse all the time. It settled in my hips and I got so bad I could only shuffle along when I walked. It seemed to jump to different places and my shoulders became lame and stiff. My hands felt numb and I was dizzy."

"I often had sharp pains around my heart and could not sleep."

"Some one advised me to try Goldine and I did. It helped me from the very start. I could feel that medicine go all through me as no other medicine ever did. Inside of a week the pain was gone and I felt better in every way. Of all the medicine I have taken in the last 25 years Goldine worked the quickest and gave me the most relief. I am glad to recommend such a remedy to the people of Lowell. Tell them not to hesitate to ask me about it."

WILLIAM MURPHY.

NOT OUR WORD, BUT THEIR

In the two weeks and two days that we have been in Lowell we have shown you the remarkable results produced by Goldine No. 2, our special rheumatism remedy. We have not asked you to take our word, but have given you the name, street address and statement of twenty people in Lowell whom you know, and ask you to call on them and find out for yourself. Hundreds are coming to Goldine, sent by friends who have used it and know its benefits. These results have never been equaled in this city. In buying a remedy you should demand that it show equal results. If we prove our superior merit there can be no question of choice. We leave the decision to you. Come and talk it over with me at Carter & Sherburne's Drug Store. I do not diagnose or prescribe or even insist on you buying Goldine. I know if you want relief you will get it in Goldine. Lowell people say so. Don't make any mistake on name or place.

Miss Salisbury's numbers were splendidly given, and she merited the applause—and the bouquets, too, with which she was showered.

Several professional acts, four of which were provided by Manager Averill of the Owl theatre, who is a member of the club, were put on, and all were of a high calibre. Madeline Boland, who is hitting an engagement at the Owl theatre, was heard in song numbers and was well received.

The last number on the vaudeville program consisted of a novel musical melange by three well known local boys, James Delaney, William McGrath and Thomas Buckley. Delaney and McGrath furnished the vocal numbers, with Buckley accompanying on a violin and the trio gave a performance second to none. Delaney's contributions were a yodel song and "Till Say She Does," and McGrath offered "Tony Spaghetti's Jubilee."

Following a brief intermission, the Zoo club presented its first show, which was labelled a musical assembly, and both music and comedy, as well as lots of comedy, made the entertainment a "corker" from start to finish. The merry-makers and fun producers included the Honey Boy quartet, Julian Noa and Augustine J. Glassmire of the Emerson company, and other well known song and dance artists who have signed up with the "Zoo." The end men were Edward (Tip) Handley, Jas. Lyons and Messrs. Noa and Glassmire, and four troubadours from sunny Spain, the parts of the troubadours being taken by John Gleason, Leo Deignan, David Boyle and Christopher Allen who also did their bit in putting over the show, and were on hand with harmony all the time.

The opening chorus consisted of several "jazzy" melodies, and was followed by a revelation by Arthur McEvoy telling about the trials and troubles of one "Christopher Columbus" who persuaded Queen Isabella to help him discover America. Alex. Beaumier in "Little Mother of Mine" showed that he has not lost a bit of his ability, and James Lyons in the end song, "Everything," demonstrated that he is still there with the goods in the musical line. David Boyle sang "Today, Tomorrow and Forever," and sang it as only "Dave" can. "Tip" Handley was at his best—and his best is mighty good—in "Can You Tame Wild Women?" Perhaps the biggest hit of the evening was Edward Donahue's "Salvation Lassie of Mine." Mr. Donahue interpreted the spirit of this wonderful song perfectly, and was encored again and again.

Augustine J. Glassmire, to whose efficient and untiring work as director of the show the success of the event was mainly due, sang, "I'm a Cave Man," and displayed a lot of pep. John Handley in "Till We Meet Again" went over the top, and Julian Noa's contribution, "Alcoholic Blues," left no doubt in the minds of the audience that July 1 will be a sad, sad day. The Honey Boy quartet were the final soloists of the evening and gave several brand new numbers as only the Honey Boys can. "The Song That I Heard in My Dreams" was one of their best numbers, and "As You Were" also made a hit.

The finale was the singing of "The Statue of Liberty is Sailing" by the entire chorus, with solo sustained by John Gleason. As the last song ended Lowell's own pugters, Messrs. Douglas and Drouin of Battery F played "To the Colors" while in the background of the stage the "Statue of Liberty" appeared framed against a large Old Glory and bearing an electrically lighted torch, making a fitting termination of a splendid performance.

The guests of the "Zoo club" on the stage were: Arthur McEvoy, Phil McDonnell, Thomas Royle, Ed. Donahue, Chas. Keyes, Martin Miskell, Ernest Parsons, John Handley, Ed. Kirby, Geo. Legrande, Robert Hunt, Dr. Delaney, Wm. Keohane, Jas. Rogers, Elliot Katz, Ralph Pond, Leonard Gleason, Jas. Forsythe, Thos. Costello, Alex. Beaumier, Geo. Brosnahan, Tim Lynch, John Hogan, John Bucy.

EX-KAISER WANTS TO RETURN TO GERMANY

BERLIN, Saturday, May 2. (By the Associated Press).—Former Emperor William has requested the German government to be allowed to return to Germany and reside on his estate at Kadenen, according to a semi-official statement issued here.

RIGHT WAY TO CAN ASPARAGUS

Canning asparagus, one of the most delicate and delicious of vegetables, has always presented a hard problem to the home food conserver. Canned asparagus has a delicate flavor and texture which makes it highly desirable for winter use as a salad, for soups or creamed as a vegetable, but in cooking it often becomes too soft to handle and pack in jars, or retain its shape and attractiveness when ready to use on the table.

The cold-pack canning process requires that asparagus be blanched for 15 or 20 minutes, then sterilized for three hours in boiling water. With this long process there is a good deal of loss by spoilage and the final product is apt to be very soft.

Hoping to improve the results, girl students in the department of domestic science, Kansas Agricultural college, experimented with canning asparagus, trying out the use of both salt and vinegar as preservatives.

All experiments proved that the present method of sterilizing asparagus three hours softens the vegetable too much to make it palatable and easy to use.

Small quantities of vinegar added before sterilizing reduce the time needed for sterilization to 1½ hours. The flavor of the vinegar is perceptible but not unpleasant and is not detected if the asparagus is served as a salad with dressing.

Blanching asparagus before packing is desirable because it shrinks the stalks and makes packing easier.

The process used in the bait test and the vinegar test follows:

1. Blanch and pack the asparagus as usual. Make a heavy brine by dissolving 2 tablespoonsful of salt in 1 quart of boiling water and fill up the jars, sterilize and seal as usual. Asparagus canned so showed a much decreased per cent of spoilage.

2. In a second test the blanched and packed asparagus was covered with boiling water containing 3 tablespoonsful of vinegar to the quart. Tests proved that when the vinegar was used the time of sterilizing could be reduced to 1½ hours. When used, the flavor of vinegar in the asparagus is very light, not enough to be undesirable or to curdle milk used in creaming the vegetable. The stalks remained firm and the decrease in the per cent of spoilage was very great.

MORE TIPS FOR HOME

This is the fifth in a series of articles prepared for Sun readers by famous women specialists on household affairs. This article is by Emma M. Gukther, professor of household administration, Columbia University.

One aim in housekeeping is to get a fresh start.

Begin on the kitchen; study the present arrangement of the three working centers—the stove, the sink and the table—and unless they are so related as to save steps, the plan is wrong.

Re-plan. If the stove and the sink are on opposite sides of the room, and it is impossible to move them, try making a connecting link by using a table in the center of the room. A wheel tray may be used, or a slight table converted to such a use by means of rollers saves steps. How near is your refrigerator to the back door? How close to your dining room are your serving dishes?

Re-group utensils. Next, gather the small tools around the working center at which they are to be used. The same principle as that of the kitchen cabinet—to have the working outfit near at hand—may be applied by grouping the right utensils near the table; pot covers in racks near the stove; cleaning supplies near the sink. Be alert to see where you can make simple changes; it is an economy to have two salt shakers instead of wasting steps.

Rearrange heights of working surfaces. Why not reduce fatigue? One

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Tartan, the mysterious, will appear this week at the B. F. Keith theatre, beginning this afternoon. Tartan is as yet not classified. Hundreds have tried to figure out just what he is, whether he is highly developed ape, man just emerging from the ape stage of life, or man who has been brought up with apes of the higher kinds. There is much food for thought and during the entire week there is bound to be much of speculation as to just what he is. This is sure to prove a highly sensational feature.

The Klein Brothers are to be seen in their own skit called "Ain't It Grand". It is comedy from the time the brothers land on the stage, and it is the popular sort which they give all of the time. Of course, music plays no small part in what they offer. Everything is done splendidly and this in no small measure accounts for their high standing.

Frank Mullane sings with the voice and the dignity of an operatic tenor. He sings and jokes with wit and freedom. And he terms his combination "Musical Scandal". Both players have had much sound experience on the stage. Miss Stephens having had the leading role in the musical comedy, "The Only Girl," while Mr. Mullane was leading man with May Irwin in "42 Washington Square." Their vaudeville partnership has been splendidly productive of good entertainment, of a clean, thoroughly modern kind.

Two attractive young women are the Ames Sisters, who sing, dance and are skilled exponents of physical culture. And they toss in a little comedy for good measure. The girls are good examples of what physical culture can accomplish.

Miss Aubrey and Estelle Riche are a pair of charming damsels. They dance very well and have pleasing voices. Their teaming is wonderfully pretty. Banjo playing as it is done by Frank Markey ranks very high indeed. He has a most varied repertoire, running from the popular to the most intricate of overtures. The Kingdome and a film comedy will also be seen at each performance.

CRAIG KENNEDY IN "THE CARTER CASE" AT THE MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

"Spotlight Sadie," a great comedy drama, featuring the Goldwyn star, Mae Marsh, will be the other feature on the bill, and this, too, should give satisfaction to all patrons. A Nutt and Jeff comedy, and the usual pictorial review, as well as song numbers by Miss Mildred Efford, will help round out a program of rare merit. And the prices never change. The prices for the matinee are 10 and 15 cents, and at night, 10, 15 and 25 cents.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Old Lady 31," Rachel Crother's big stage success of recent months, will be played for the third time in stock by the Emerson All Star Players at the Lowell Opera House this week. Little need be said of the worth of the piece, for it is too well known among patrons of the theatre. Suffice it to say that it enjoyed unusual runs on Broadway and at the Plymouth theatre, Boston. Miss Jane Salisbury and Julian Noa, will appear in the parts of this. The play has much heart-interest and a generous sprinkling of rich humor. Miss Girard-Huntington's mother, who is close to the three-quarter century mark, will make her re-appearance on the stage after an absence of 25 years.

In the role of the grandmother, a big attendance is anticipated. Order your tickets early and avoid disappointment. Tel. 2-1.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Today marked the formal opening of one of the greatest serial productions that Lowell motion play fans have ever seen when Craig Kennedy in "The Carter Case," starring Herbert Rawlinson and Margaret Marsh, began a 15 weeks' engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre.

Arthur B. Reeves is the capable author of the Craig Kennedy series of scientific detective stories which have been published in the leading magazines of the country and now the product of this master mind has been transferred to the cinema so that everybody may have an opportunity of seeing the absorbing adventures of Kennedy realistically portrayed.

The magnificent and accurate reproduction of scientific instruments and processes in this serial are said to exert upon a large portion of the public a fascination entirely novel and unparalleled in any photoplay thus far exhibited.

The spectacular progress of science in recent years and its amazing practical use as demonstrated in the great war have inspired thousands of youngsters from 8 to 80, with spell-bound interest in the mysteries of the laboratory. What's more, thousands have been inspired to test their own inventive genius by making experiments. Science has really become a popular pastime.

Full opportunity to see a practical demonstration of this hobby is afforded in the Craig Kennedy serial and the episode which will be shown at the Merrimack Square theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday, entitled "The Throes of the Bullet," is especially appealing.

Margaret Marsh and Ellen Gray Torry, leading stars in this great serial, will soon appear in person at the Merrimack Square theatre. The serial will be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the next 15 weeks. There will be a showing after school hours every afternoon for the benefit of the school children of the city.

WASHINGTON STREET MAN FINDS HEALTH IN NEW REMEDY

Unable To Walk, Sends Wife For Medicine—Ten Days Later Walks Down Town Himself

What appears to be another remarkable recovery from rheumatism was related by Mr. B. Fitzgerald, who lives at 740 Washington street, Haverhill. He gives all the credit to Weldon's, the rheumatic remedy which is becoming so popular in this city.

When asked for a statement he said: "I have had rheumatism about four years. It is very severe in the winter and during the cold weather and this year was no exception. My hip gave me a great deal of trouble, so much so that I was unable to lift my foot or find a comfortable position. I couldn't sleep, move or turn, the pain would wake me up and I would suffer agony for hours. It seemed to wake me up about the same time each morning. I was in pretty bad shape when I first started to take this Weldon's. The man says get yours now, today."

Five great powers have been brought into question by her withdrawal from the peace conference, and it is this status which is proving a powerful lever in inducing her to accept the invitation of the council of three to resume her place at the peace table. The treaty of peace makes repeated reference to the five great powers as final authority regulating many subjects and this provision would have to be changed to the "four great powers" in case Italy remained out of the conference.

A GOOD PEACE, BELGIUM TO SIGN TREATY

SAYS CLEMENCEAU
PARIS, May 5.—"I have done my best. I think it is a good peace." This declaration was made to the editor of the Figaro last night by President Clemenceau. The editor added that from the details he has been able to learn he is convinced that all France is weighing well the immense advantages she will gain from collaboration with Great Britain and the United States.

If it is a good peace the editor continues, it is a better one because it is an alliance with the two most powerful nations of the world.

BRUSSELS, May 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Belgian government has decided to sign the treaty of peace which was discussed at a crown council held here last night, it is announced.

Keep Baby Well—

Feverish colds that distress the little ones, that cause difficult breathing, that irritate their sensitive little throats and give them troublesome disturbing coughs, are readily helped and soothed by Foley's Honey and Tar.

The wise mother gives it for croup, whooping cough, measles cough and bronchial coughs.

Foley's Honey and Tar is just as good for grown-ups as for children. For hoarseness, tickling throat, troublesome night coughs, is gripple coughs and chronic coughs of elderly people it is widely recommended. It contains no morphine, chloroform or other drug that you would not like to give to young children, delicate persons or elderly people. Do not accept a substitute.

"When our baby was 10 days old he took whooping cough in the worst form, and the paroxysms of cough almost overcame him. Our neighbor suggested Foley's Honey and Tar and that gave him almost immediate relief, for which we feel very grateful." Mrs. J. H. Hightower, Odessa, Texas.

"My baby was stricken with a severe cough and cold at one month old. I gave him 10 to 15 drops of Foley's Honey and Tar every three hours and it soon helped him." Mrs. B. H. Garrett, Schoolfield, Va.

Big "Change in Organization" Sale

TO THE PEOPLE OF LOWELL AND VICINITY:

We are glad to announce that we have made a change in the management of our store, which we believe will be of great benefit to the buying public.

Our new manager, after twelve years' experience with the largest department store in Boston, comes direct to Lowell with modern Department Store methods which will be put in operation here.

We invite you to follow closely all our future advertising and we believe you will benefit greatly by coming to this store.

THE CHALIFOUX COMPANY.

TO THE BUYING PUBLIC AT LARGE:

I have come to this store with the avowed intention of pursuing the most liberal policy and shall insist on "Satisfaction to the customer to the last degree." I assure you that there will be found at Chalifoux's only dependable merchandise correctly priced.

I have already found in some departments a scarcity of certain lines of merchandise—but in others—I have found an excess quantity, and for that reason we have marked many items below their replacement price and offer them to the public in this sale.

LOUIS E. STUDLEY,
General Manager, The Chalifoux Company.

LOWELL MAN LOSES HIS AUTO LICENSE

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 5.—As a result of his conviction in the Law-rence court April 12, on a charge of operating an automobile recklessly, the Massachusetts Highway commission has revoked the license under which George Drake of Lowell has been act-ing as chauffeur in this state.

Walter W. Fletcher of Westford is another chauffeur who has come under the ban of the commission, his license having been suspended pending an in-vestigation of the accident in which he was involved April 22, and which resulted in the death of J. Henry Col-burn of Littleton. Agents of the com-mission will investigate all the cir-cumstances of the accident, and after they have reported the commission will decide whether in its judgment the accident occurred without fault on Fletcher's part.

The commission has also forbidden two New Hampshire residents to ope-rate motor vehicles in this state, they having been convicted in the Lowell court on charges of operating an au-tomobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Kelsa J. Huntoon of Laconia was convicted April 21, while Phyllis P. St. Francois of Nash-ua was convicted April 22. Neither has had a Massachusetts license, and for this reason the commission's juris-diction in respect to them is limited to the issuance of orders forbidding them to operate in this state.

SERGE MCELROY ENTERTAINS WAMESET LODGE WITH RECREAT- DE WAR ADVENTURES

Interesting recitals of war adven-tures were told at a meeting of Wameset lodge, 25, K. of P., on Fri-day night by Serge William H. McElroy of the 14th Engineers, Lieut. C. B. Livingston and Serge Allen Harris. The three soldiers were pre-sented by Commander A. S. Goldman, who spoke of the fine war records of all members of the Knights of Pythias. The meeting was one of the largest and most interesting in the history of the lodge. During the business session the third rank degree was worked on three aspirants and five new candidates were elected to mem-bership. The Wameset orchestra fur-nished music and there were pleasing songs by John Mott. Refreshments were served. The lodge voted to subscribe for $100 of Victory loan bonds, which makes a total of $500 invested in Liberty bonds to date.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the whole family is there to read it. The Sun fills this bill in Lowell.

CHARTERS FOR NEW LOWELL COMPANIES

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 5.—The Norman Welsberg company of Lowell has been granted articles of incorpo-ration by the secretary of state. The corporation, which will deal in food products, has a capitalization of $50,000, divided into 500 shares of com-mon, each with a par value of $100. The incorporators are Harold E. Stan-wood of Needham, Norman Welsberg of Lowell and Asa S. Allen of Belmont. Stanwood being president, Welsberg treasurer and Allen clerk. Stanwood and Welsberg have each subscribed to 100 shares of the stock of the corporation. No part of the capital stock is now to be issued.

F. D. Munn & Son, incorporated, was also given a charter. The purpose for which the cor-poration is formed is to deal in gen-eral groceries and provisions. The capital stock is placed at $12,000, divided into 120 shares of common, each with a par value of $100. The incorporators are Francis D. Munn, who is to be president, Frederic S. Harvey, treasurer and John J. Har-vey clerk. Each has subscribed and paid for one share of stock. That is the amount now to be issued.

ENTERTAINED AT Y.M.C.A.

The usual large number of soldiers were housed and entertained at the Y.M.C.A. over the week-end. The number of beds occupied on Saturday night being more than 100. An informal entertainment was given for the men Sunday afternoon, which included singing by a quartet composed of Miss Naunie Tucker, soprano; Miss Rosetta Weir, contralto; A. Waterman, tenor, and Mr. Thompson, bass. Violin se-lections were played by Walter Mur-phy, and Rev. J. E. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Ice cream and cake were served in the association lobby by Mrs. Young and Miss B. F. Fairbanks.

CONCERT AT SACRED HEART CHURCH

Splendidly successful and generously attended was the sacred concert given last evening at the Sacred Heart church by the choir of that church, assisted by singers from other parishes of the city. A carefully chosen program served to demonstrate the ability of the singers and their efficient director, John J. Kelly, as well as the qualities of the church organ which has recently been equipped with a modern three horse power blower by William B. Goodwin of this city. Constant en-joyment was given the audience by mel-low tones and the addition of new equipment has made it one of the finest in the city.

The details of the evening's program have been given to the public pre-viously and it will suffice to say that each and all of the soloists were at their best, no matter how difficult the number chosen for them. Miss May E. Burke in company with Timothy Finnegan again proved herself one of the city's really gifted sopranos in Lavelle's dramatic "Praise and Honor to the Lord Everlasting." The other soloists included Miss Frances Tighe, Miss Katherine Sharkey, Miss Eliza-beth Finnegan, John McLaughlin, George Kirwin, Miss Blanche Walsh, James King, Miss Harriet Moran, William Goodin and Andrew A. McCarthy. Each did excellent work and Mr. Kelly in solo and accompaniment pieces once more proved himself a past master of the organ. The choir was full-toned and was admirably controlled by Mr.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

Farmers Favor League of Nations

NEW YORK, May 5.—An overwhelming majority of the 12 million farmers of America favors the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations, according to an announcement today by the League to Enforce Peace.

Resolutions have been adopted by 193 organizations and 55 leaders are mobilizing the farmers of the country for a drive on the senate when the covenant is presented for ratification.

Kelly's direction. Following the con-cent, benediction of the blessed sacra-ment was held with Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I., as celebrant; Rev. James McDermott, O.M.I. deacon, and Rev. James J. Gallagher, O.M.I., sub-deacon.
John Kirwin, William Howard and Eugene Mullen were the ushers.

LOWELL GENERAL HOSPITAL.

The annual meeting of the Cor-poration of the Lowell General Hospital will be held in the Di-rectors' Room of the Union Savings Bank, Lowell, Mass., on Tuesday the thirteenth day of May, A. D. 1919, at four o'clock in the afternoon, to trans-act such business as may legally come before said meeting.

Sentenced For Everett Holdup

CAMBRIDGE, May 5.—Sentences were imposed today on five of the nine men alleged to have been concerned in the robbery of Frank R. Brown, assistant paymaster of the General Electric Co., foundry at Everett, who was held up and shot by automobile bandits on Dec. 20, and relieved of the weekly payroll amounting to nearly $13,000. All had pleaded guilty.

Louis (Poco) Bennett, who is alleged to have arranged the robbers as part of a conspiracy to assist Charles S. Whittemore, an aged em-ployee of the company, to retrieve gambling losses, was given two and one-half years in the House of Correction for conspiracy. Harry Gavin, a youth, was sent to the Concord Reformatory for five years and Alfred Hirsch and John Mulhall, both of New York, were sentenced to from 10 to 12 years in the state prison. The heaviest sentence, 11 to 15 years, was imposed on Samuel Stirrat, who, according to the district attorney, was the man who shot Brown, severely wounding him.

Brutal Murder of Young Woman

BARRE, Vt., May 5.—The body of Mrs. Harry E. Broadwell, 29 years old and the mother of three children, was found in a garden off North Main street, early yesterday with the throat bound tightly with a man's handkerchief and the hands, still in kid gloves, bound tightly at the back. Death was by strangulation, according to the police, whose theory is that the woman was murdered in a nearby building and the body dragged to the garden before daybreak.

Beside the body was found the woman's watch and hat, and 21 feet away her open pocketbook which was empty. Close by were found all the articles of clothing except the shoes and stockings which were on the body.

When the clothing was picked up several buttons dropped off, indi-cating, according to the police, that it had been forcibly removed. Dr. H. B. Stone of the state laboratory of hygiene performed an autopsy but did not make public his report.

Czecho-Slovak War Minister Killed

COPENHAGEN, May 5.—General Milan Stefank, Czecho-Slovak minister of war, was killed near Wajnor, Hungary, Sunday, when the airplane in which he was traveling crashed to the ground, a despatch from Pressburg says. Two Italian officers, who were with him also were killed.

Bombs Made in This Country

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Experts of the bureau of mines, analyzing the bombs used in the attempted May day outrages, have proceeded far enough to convince them that the gelatine dynamite used was of Ameri-can manufacture. It is expected that the firm producing the explosive can be identified from the chemical formula and the perpetrators per-haps traced in that way.

Some Interesting Facts Concerning the Circulation of Books in General

"How is business up at the public library?"

If some would-be joker asks this question it can easily be shown that he is joking on the wrong subject for the answer to the question of how business is at Lowell's public library may make rather interesting reading.

The most important thing about the average newspaper is said to be its circulation and the same to a large extent, holds true in regard to the library. If its books didn't have circulation the shutters would have to be drawn and the bookmovers start home jobless.

Librarian Frederick A. Chase upon being asked as to how many books the municipal library lost a year by reason of theft replied, "Surprisingly few. We of course know the exact number but we don't believe it is worth while making it public. The number is small enough so that it offers proof that library people should continue to have faith in the inherent honesty of most of the people who come to the library to read or take out library books."

"We think at this library that usefulness of the institution is facilitated by the fact that we have the open shelf system of maintaining our service which means in effect, that persons not in search of some one particular book, but anxious to get some good book can go to the open shelves, make a selection and bring the book to the recording desk, to be charged. On account of this fact being true here we regard it as all the more surprising that the number of books stolen, is so insignificantly small."

Unretained Books

Mr. Chase was asked, if he could enumerate a number of books for which there seemed to be no demand and which were seldom if ever called for. He answered this by saying:

"I suppose if we took pains we could check up the exact number and the names of these dormant books but we have never done it because there are so few of them. It should be recognized that each generation seems to have biographies it wants the most and that it will insist upon having. The older place in history a man gets the more it seems to work out that there will be less of a demand for his biography."

"We know for a fact that in this library for instance there are probably biographies of men long dead and well forgotten, for which there may not be a demand from one year's end to another. The call for them may be rare and only once in a long time. Similarly in the case of scientific books librarians have to recognize that previously new and reliable scientific matter is subject to constant change due to the constant amount of new scientific matter being made public. Thus it can be possible that scientific books of 25 years ago, dependable at that time, have no particular value this year because so much of new scientific discovery has superseded the matter of which they treated."

"I remember some time ago," said Mr. Chase to The Sun, "that this very same question came up for discussion at a convention of librarians in Boston and it was questioned whether such books should be burned or should be sold for waste paper. Also in a matter of this kind it would be pertinent to perhaps have one central committee decide as to what books should be withdrawn from public libraries so as to make room for news and more worth while books. Discussion was as far as the problem got. No solution was adopted. There is no doubt that in every library in the country there are a number of books that might just as well be discarded."

Books Mostly in Demand

It is not nearly as hard to summarize the reading of Lowell as a community, and reduce to a number, its favorite books for this particular time, as might be imagined. The librarians were glad to do this and the result of their investigation and the list furnished by them is as follows:

For fiction, The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, by Vicente Blazquez, a Spaniard, is the great outstanding and wonderful novel of the period. The Lowell public library, so great has the demand for this book been, bought more than a half a dozen copies and it has probably been the most widely circulated book in Lowell for months.

War novels of course had something of a vogue which at the present time though, shows signs of subsiding. The war books—stirring narrative of the actual thrill of warfare, still command a wide circle of readers among patrons of the library. Some of these books as enumerated by the librarians are, Living Daytons, Help of God and a Few Marines, The Soldier and They Thought We Couldn't Fight, Capt. Carrel Swann's book, "My Company," has attained some considerable circulation in Lowell. Swann was a Boston newspaper

High Class Reading
It ought not to be thought that Lowell people are careless people altogether who do not care for the so-called, thoughtful kind of reading. Of the present period, as far as instance, Harry Lauder's "A Minstrel in France," the poems of the brave, dead New York poet, Joyce Kilmer; the story by Dr. Davis, the American dentist in Berlin who writes of "The Kaiser as I Knew Him," Ruth Parham, the American woman who bravely helped the distressed people of Serbia, lectured in Lowell last fall and her new noted book, "A Nation at Bay," was widely read here in Lowell. Another popular book much in demand is "Education of Henry Adams." Curiously enough what would at first seem to be so dry and unattractive a book as that written by a penitentiary geologist, the noted Pumphrey, his reminiscences, has been much read in Lowell. Pumphrey describes his geological adventures in many strange parts of the world. Perhaps some small local interest attaches to his book from the fact that his daughter is the wife of Rev. Dr. Gregg, sometime a Lowell pastor.

Under the head of what constitutes the most popular fiction may be mentioned these novels, "White Man," "Old Dad," "Zane Grey's 'Desert of Wheat,'" "The Man Nobody Knew," an uncanny tale of an international secret service worker who disguised his face by getting a noted surgeon to perform a master operation on it which to some extent disfigured his face. Other popular novels are found to be Sir Gilbert Parker's "Wild Youth," "Pals First," W. J. Locke's "Rough Roads," Joseph Lincoln's "Shavings," Gene Stratton Porter's "Daughter of the Land," Peter Kynne's "Valley of the Giants" and Jeffrey Karmol's "Greatheart." Strange to say, particularly among boy readers, that ever new and wonderful tale of boy life in the Mississippi valley, Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn," is still constantly in demand.

The library at this time also finds there is a remarkable and insistent demand for books pertaining to the subject of vacation selecting, this on the part of returned soldiers and young men and young women in school. The library is well equipped with many books on this businesslike and vital subject and the librarians find these books rank nearly as high as some of the popular fiction and war books, in the circulation.

RUSSIAN BARK TOWED TO BOSTON

SCITUATE, May 3.—The Russian bark, Professor Koch, ashore in the harbor here since Wednesday, was pulled from the sands by tugs and towed to Boston today. Divers had made temporary repairs so that she was floated with the portion of her cargo of wool and hides which had not been removed by lighters.

The Koch struck on ledges off here late Tuesday night, while on her way to Boston from East London, South Africa. When pulled off by tugs, she struck on the bottom of the harbor.

CHARITY BALL AT ASSOCIATE HALL

All Lowell is expected to participate in the big charity ball to be held at Associate hall Wednesday evening under the auspices of the local council of the Knights of Columbus and at a meeting of the committee in charge of arrangements held yesterday afternoon final details for the affair were perfected. The presence of Gov. Calvin Coolidge is assured and many of the state's leading military men are also expected.

The proceeds of the affair will go entirely to local charities and the beneficiaries are to be St. John's hospital, St. Peter's orphanage, the French-American orphanage and the Knights of Columbus guild. These are all public institutions and for this reason their support should be public wide.

A committee consisting of 1000 members of Lowell council has been organized to conduct the ball and no effort has been spared to insure a social and financial success. Peter F. Gill, the floor director, has worked unceasingly to arrange a most artistic affair and the various other officers promise a most enjoyable evening.

PARIS, Saturday, May 3.—Only three of the hostages executed at Munich by the communists before they were overpowered could be recognized. One of them were Prince Albert of Thurn and Taxis. Among the bodies which were unrecognizable were three that had been decapitated. They are believed to be those of the Countess Westarp, Councillor Dallmar, who had been known as one of Munich's benefactors, and Prof. Franz von Stuck.

BE ON YOUR GUARD!

There are certain articles found on every merchant's shelves called by them, "shelf clingers." They are hard to sell. No one knows about them. A slick salesman showed up one day at the store, showed his samples, told what a big advertising campaign was going to be started and succeeded in selling a bill of goods.

Well, the advertising campaign never started, or if it started, it ended too soon. But the bill of goods came and was distributed upon the shelves. There they stay. It takes advertising to move them. The manufacturer didn't do his duty. His duty was to back up his sales organization with an advertising campaign. He'll not be able to sting the same customer twice with that kind of camouflage.

Don't let yourself be this kind of a customer. Don't let the glossy, silk shirted salesman "kryp" you, Mr. Merchant. If he says his company is going to start a big newspaper campaign to help to sell the goods, tell him you will place an order when you see the newspaper campaign in progress. Tell him to prove his case in Lowell by having his company advertise its products where you can see it and your customers will see it. Tell him in this city—it means doing business with

THE SUN

Lowell's Greatest Newspaper

AS TO UNIONS

The income and leisure of the people determine a nation's civilization. Burying this fact in phrases, denouncing it as materialistic, narrow and selfish does not alter it. We may sing of the blessings of poverty, the joy of love in a cottage, the discipline of economy and application, but when we have offered homage to education, culture, contentment and the whole pantheon of virtues of the simple life, we find these gods all have feet in the clay of common needs. It is still true, that the worst enemy of the poor is their poverty.

High wages and ample leisure remain the foundation of any social ideal and most of the domestic virtues, and will continue to be so until labor becomes leisure and work constructive play—something less fantastic than the words seem to convey.

Along with low wages and long hours come drunkenness and crime, high death rates and stupefying ignorance, riots and social disorder. Life lengthens with income and broadens with hours of well employed leisure. The cigar-makers' union, doubled its members' lives in 20 years by raising wages and shortening hours.

Infant death rates give a chastely converse to this picture. The children's bureau of the federal government found that where the family income averaged less than $450 annually, 108 of every 1000 babies born die in the first year. If the income is between $450 and $549, only 135 perish in the first twelve months. When the income reaches $1250, still less than a decent wage, only 65 die.

A "living wage" is not a figure of speech. The difference between it and a "dying wage" is written in mortality tables.

Low wages cause and aggravate sickness. Sickness adds to poverty. So the vicious, deadly circle laws in upon the worker.

High wages are the greatest enemy of illiteracy. It is not alone that they lift the burden of labor from the child and send it to school. Night schools for adults everywhere to reach the low paid, long time workers—who are illiterate. An eight-hour day and a living wage send more to night schools than all the ads of posters, leaflets and preaching devoted to urging attendance upon overworked and unpaid illiterates.

Feeling, education, healthful sentiment, "general culture" of all rest on the same hard material basis. In the world's civilization those nations least whose people receive the largest income have the greatest leisure for their most powerful agency to end, and therefore to the advance of civilization, is not propaganda, proclamations, mobs, nor revolutions, but the conservative union movement stands for justice and drives socialism, anarchy and the elements that try to pass off illegitimate unions.

BRITISH TAXATION

British policy of taxation to be radically different in the United States. Early in the war, England saw that the taxes would put many into the state of existence. To avoid danger, the government acted in many important industries whose activities could afford returns to the government from taxes, but excess in this way, England managed to get through the war with Kaplan, a postal clerk in New York, has won national reputation for his presence of mind and his tact in preventing a package of 16 infernal machines from being sent out to as many prominent men in different parts of the country. Kaplan was on his way home in the early hours of the morning, when he got hold of the first edition of a morning paper and saw that a bomb had been received through the mail, at the home of Senator Hurdwick of Georgia. He at once recalled the fact that he had handled 16 packages of a suspicious character held for lack of sufficient postage. He promptly made his way to the office and arrived in time to prevent the infernal machines being sent on their way to the persons selected for slaughter. Kaplan surely deserves a Barleson cross de bomb, if not a congressional medal.

SECRETARY DANIELS

Secretary Daniels has been feted in the most lavish style in London. He has even dined with the king. It is understood that Mr. Daniels went over to England to ascertain her naval policies and to learn perhaps some of her naval secrets. He has been highly honored by various distinguished bodies in London; but we venture to say that he has learned very little of the secrets or even of the policies of the British admiralty. On the other hand, however, it is highly probable that Mr. Daniels has been pumped dry of all the secrets and policies of the naval department, of which he is the head.

COALITION DOOMED

Reports from England indicate that sentiment is turning against the coalition ministry. Out of four by-elections, three have gone against the ministry in constituencies that in the last election gave substantial majorities for the government. This indicates a tendency to go back to the partisan government under which the opposing elements will be liberal and tory or unionist. No change is likely, however, for some time after the conclusion of peace; but as soon as things begin to reach a normal condition, the coalition regime will be dissolved after which the parties will revert back to the old lines.

DEMOBILIZATION

It is announced that the American army will be returned at the rate of 450,000 a month, just as soon as the peace treaty shall have been signed. At that rate, the entire army will be home by autumn and thus completely demobilized. That would probably bring about a revocation of the law under which prohibition is to go into effect July 1st. It is understood that President Wilson has discretionary powers in the premises and what he may do after his return is problematical.

It is rather a strange occurrence that there should be 2000 families evicted on May day in New York, and that the families thus driven out are left utterly homeless. It is a very serious situation resulting from the scarcity of houses, due no doubt to the lack of building during the past few years. These evicted families cannot be left to starve or to be exposed to the weather. The city must provide for them and it should have prevented arbitrary evictions until the families involved had found suitable habitations to which they could move with reasonable assurance of safety if not of ordinary comfort.

A North Carolina judge stepped in and said the federal tax on child-made products is unconstitutional. He said its application invaded the rights of a state. He evidently does not recognize that legislation had to be used to make certain parts of the south decent, and this is one of the pieces of legislation. Let this judge jealously guard or try to guard what he conceives to be his state's rights, while children degenerate into little working animals in the cotton mills of that state. That judge should remember that slavery has been abolished and is never to be revived in any form in any state of this union.

It is not to be wondered at that the German peace delegates scurried around as quickly as they could to procure fine French soap at Versailles so as to indulge in the, to them, luxury of personal cleanliness. French soap may indeed render their bodies clean once more, but we may conclude if some ingenious French inventor could devise some saponaceous substance warranted to cleanse the soul of a man, he would throw up his hands at the idea of his invention being applied to the average German.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Most headaches "dullness" and that lary feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "foggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

There was one thing in connection with the parade of the Coast Artillery battery in Friday's Victory Loan celebration which sort of stuck out like a sore thumb—an utter lack of cheering or applause of any kind as the overseas battalions marched through the city streets. The clever-performing tractor as it "shimmied" from sidewalk to sidewalk drew the laughs, but the dusty, valiant decorated soldiers drew straight glances, and nothing more. Perhaps the enthusiasm and appreciation was of the silent kind—too deep for mere words—but that doesn't seem good reasoning, for there was nothing about the parade to tip the well-spring of flowing tears, but rather, the splendid appearance of the outfit should have brought out spontaneous and prolonged applause. Have we become so prosaic in these days of reconstruction, now that we have most of our own boys back with us, to forget the lads who lie beneath the poppies on the Marne and in the Argonne, once comrades perhaps, of the very soldiers who now occasionally parade our streets? We fervently hope not. In almost every instance civilians uncovered as the flag went by, but the boys who fought for it, trudged along between lanes of a silent populace.

One of the by-products of the appearance of the C.A.C. outfit in Lowell Friday was the liberal distribution of all sorts of literature, hearing directly or indirectly upon the Victory Loan number of "Liaison," the official courier of the coast artillery branch of the service, or as they like to call themselves, "the big gun corps." It is filled with illustrations, many of them pictures of the bayonet wounds of the German lines by well placed American shells fired from U. S. Coast Artillery guns, and with Yankee soldiers at the bayonets. The magazine also contains the complete personnel of this touring battery, whence it was recruited and brief histories and war records of some of its most illustrious officers and men. Its principal story, however, is an account of the work done during the St. Mihiel offensive by one 340 millimeter, 14-inch French rifle, railroad mount, manned by Battery B of the 58d Artillery, U. S. Coast Artillery Corps, Major John M. Meneely commanding. Confians, with its immense railway yards and enormous round house capable of holding any number of locomotives and trains, was the main German base of supplies and operations in the St. Mihiel sector. Hence it was very important that this base should be destroyed. Battery B was assigned this task, and from 2:14 a. m., Sept. 12, 1918, to 5 p. m., Sept. 16, put a destructive, harassing and continuous barrage on Confians, sending over one hundred and one 14-inch projectiles. The first shot was a direct hit in the yards, and the third landed squarely in the round house.

May we not throw another stick into the well oiled machinery of the street department and respectfully pray that some, in fact much, consideration be given to the many complaints of people in the Highlands section regarding that stretch of terrible road on Westford street between Loring and Wilder streets? Having well in mind the many calls for help which daily reach the street commissioner's ears, the almost staggering task he has before him and his limited reservoir of funds, we still put in our ear for one more tug. The street in question does not attract very much heavy traffic of the truck sort, but it does get a lot of automobile business, and it has become so uncomfortable late as to make folks take to the dirt roadway in Pine street rather than to run a chance of breaking springs and other automobile parts. Middlesex street above Coral, with its gentle cobble stones, is just as bad, but with this short portion of Westford street paved a fine artery of travel would be made leaving the city to the northward. Broadway must come first, and we suppose other streets demand just as much attention as does Westford, but being a resident of that section, we feel called upon to deliver this blast.

The item in this col. printed Friday telling of the depredations to lawns and terraces in the city and the suggestion that the acts of children in this respect ought to be strictly curbed, has met with verbal approval of one of our readers, who suggests that the item did not go as far as it might have in this direction. He calls attention to the damage done by the milkmen and paper boys in the morning, and afternoon as well, who persist in trying to get through their work quickly by cutting across lawns with no regard for shrubbery, flower beds or fences. Even signs marked "Keep off" are disregarded. It is a very old problem and one that has often annoyed a great many people. One of the best suggestions we could make in regard to this—and it may not be at all efficient—is not to do business with a paper boy or a milkman seeing, doing his work in this lawless kind of a way. A man or a boy who will not respect the rights of his customers or their property has gotten a wrong start, and it may be an effective way to bring him to a sense of duty by touching his pocketbook.

SEEN AND HEARD

Say, Mister, excuse us for not knowing your last name, but please lay off that tax stuff.

We suppose this daylight saving stuff is all right, but we would enjoy it more if we weren't so darn sleepy when 6 a. m. rolls 'round.

We rise to inquire how the sundae bounds like the one-cent tax? Already petitions are in circulation protesting against what is termed "a most annoying law."

Did you ever think this way about a fellow? That if he were a passenger on the same ship with you and he fell overboard you would rather throw him an anchor than a life preserver?

A St. Louis street car conductor returned $1200 he had collected in nickels and neglected to register. Now will some street car company return a few of the nickels it has collected from straphangers for seats.

A Bear With the Ladies

You have heard tell about a fellow who "is a divel with th' ladies," well, here must be one: "To you, dear heart, the dearest man in all the world. Oceans of love! I am almost wild to be with you, I'd hardly give you time to breathe. Yes, dearest love, you are a nurse of sweethearts. I'll have to admit that. I want you and you only so I can give every bit of my love to you dear and only sweetheart."—A letter from "Blue Eyes to a Chicago man, whose wife offered it in evidence at their divorce court proceedings.

For Men Only

Promptly at noon a dainty young woman stepped into the front window of a downtown department store in Oakland, Cal., and began to demonstrate a new device to hold up women's stockings. Several things happened immediately thereafter.

Fifty men packed the sidewalks in front of the window.

A horse dragged a delivery wagon into an automobile trying to get a view.

Automobiles halted, street cars stopped, and a call for a policeman was sent in. A policeman was finally found with his nose pressed against the window.

Not a woman saw the demonstration.

That Tax Question

Speaking of the taxes which went into effect in Lowell and throughout the country yesterday, many people think that the tax on women's hats is a tax on women. All wrong. It is really levied on the woman's husband, who pays this as well as other taxes. The "old man" is cornered and cannot escape any way he tries. There is a tax on carpets and rugs, too. Carpets and rugs in excess of $5 per square yard are taxed whether the rugs are square or not. A round rug can't get around the tax. Trunks are taxed if they exceed $50 in value. A lot of trunks exceed that in value when loaded but their value will steadily drop after the first day of July, A. D. (All out of Drunk.) Toilet cases valued at over $25 are taxed also. It can be seen thus far that nothing has been done to hurt the feelings of the Bolshevik. Purse worth more than $7.50 are also subject to the new levy. This tax does not hit many people as most of the population do not need this kind of thing any more, and those that do carry purses couldn't get $7.50 for them loaded, as a rule. Umbrellas, parasols and sunshades in excess of $4 will have to "get it up." However there is a loophole here as the law does not forbid people to stand in a doorway until the rain stops. Shoes are taxed in excess of $10 a pair unless your feet are deformed. If you can prove that your feet are deformed you can pay all you want for shoes. A plain flat wheel or an ingrown toe nail are not exempt under this ruling. By deformed feet here is meant a serious trouble such as would prohibit you from getting in the army. Men's silk hose over $1 a pair and women's over $2 are taxable. This might seem at first blush like discrimination, but when you realize that men's hose are only ankle deep as a rule you can see that no favoritism is being shown. Kimonos worth over $15 per each, or however they come, are subject to an extra contribution. This tax does not hit the coal heavers or the firemen except very lightly. There are also soft drink taxes but when and how and by whom they are collected is a difficult matter to explain in one newspaper. Consumers will best learn the operation of this tax by buying the drinks. The clerks will have the thing all down fine and they will explain it.

The Garden

Two rows of early peas are up. My radishes are growing. Their delicate and dainty green. The lettuce leaves are showing. We've had some dandelion greens. The rhubarb stalks are sprouting. I'm thinking now of planting beans. All thoughts of frostbite floating.

I have some corn in paper pots. All ready for transplanting. Some dandelion blossoms white. Is ready for dandelion.

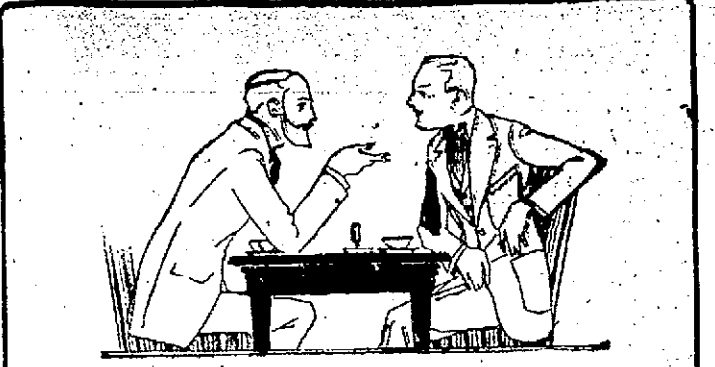

In short, the garden's started well. To grow big crops this summer. And, take it from your Uncle John, it's going to be a bumper.

325,000 IN GERMAN ARMY ON MAY 1

COBLENZ, Friday, May 2. (By the Associated Press.)—On May 1, which officially marked the end of the demobilization of the old German army and the functioning of the new army, Germany had 325,000 men of various classes under arms, according to estimates by American intelligence officers.

FINNISH RED GUARDS CONTROL PETROGRAD

LONDON, May 5.—Finnish Red Guards are now masters of the situation at Petrograd, according to a despatch from Copenhagen to the Mail. They have arrested members of the Danish Red Cross, and it is reported they intend to march against the Finnish White Guards.

BETTER CONDITIONS FOR SHIPWORKERS

BOSTON, May 5.—Plans for the improvement of conditions for shipworkers were discussed at the opening session of the first convention of the Atlantic Coast, Gulf and Great Lakes Metal Trades Federation here today. Two hundred delegates were present, representing 42 shipbuilding crafts. President H. L. Murray of Philadelphia, in discussing the aims of the federation, said that congress should take steps to protect the shipbuilding industry. He asserted that inasmuch as Americans had proven themselves the best shipbuilders, American capital should support American maritime enterprise.

The convention will remain in session through Wednesday.

RIVET AND REED BOX HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

George Rivet, the Canadian welterweight champion and Pal Reed, of Minneapolis, have notified Matchmaker Mahan that they are in perfect condition for their bout at the Triangle A. C. meeting at the playhouse tomorrow night. Rivet has been training here and those who saw him workout aver that he is going like a champion and should have little trouble in beating Reed. The westerner, however, isn't worrying over the bout with the Canadian title holder and he feels that after tomorrow the crowd will rest on his "dome." The boys are scheduled to go 12 rounds to a decision. Young Arvill and Young Neasey, both local boys, who will appear in the semi-final tomorrow night, report that they are in the "pink" and ready for the fight. The bout between Dinky Walsh and very aggressive, and their number should furnish considerable excitement for the members. The preliminary bout between Dinky Walsh and Johnny Martin, a "repeat" after their whirlwind exhibition of last week, last meeting being a number. In their last meeting, Martin sent Walsh down in the first round, but this time the thing did not bother Dinky, for he won by a good margin. Pissoni will clash in the other six rounds.

SENATORS WIN

Athletics Had 17 Men Left on Bases Sunday

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Washington made it three straight from Philadelphia by winning yesterday, 12 to 6. Thirty-four hits were made by the two teams and the visitors had 17 men left on bases. Washington used three pitchers and Philadelphia two. Score: Washington 0 0 5 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 2 16 3. Philadelphia 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 6 18 1. Batteries: Johnson, Givlick, Craft and Agnew; Kinney, Naylor and McAvoy.

CLEVELAND 5, DETROIT 4.—Cleveland, May 5.—Cleveland yesterday by beating Detroit 5 to 4. Detroit tied up the series with two out in the ninth on Flazstead's double and Ellison's single. In Cleveland's half, with two out, Chasmon doubled, Sweeney was passed, purness and Smith doubled, scoring Chasmon. The score: Cleveland 1 0 1 0 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 10 1. Detroit 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 7 2. Batteries: Coveskoski and O'Neil; Elmore and Stange.

CHICAGO 4, ST. LOUIS 2.—Chicago, May 5.—Chicago won from St. Louis yesterday, 4 to 2, play being stopped by rain in the last half of the fifth inning. Chicago bunched four hits with three errors for four runs, driving Solter to the rubber. Cicotte held St. Louis hitless for four innings but in the fifth two Browns turned three hits into two runs. The score: Chicago 0 0 0 4 0 0 0 4 5 0. St. Louis 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 3 2. Batteries: Cicotte and Schalk; Solteron, Lowdermilk and Seaver.

CAMP DEVENS WINS
The Camp Devens team defeated a team from the receiving ship 17 to 10 in a game yesterday. The team from the receiving ship had 11 runs in the six innings which spelled an other.

NO END IN SIGHT

Braves Take Eighth Beating Without a Murmur

BROOKLYN, May 5.—Brooklyn defeated Boston 6 to 2 yesterday in the first Sunday major league game played here under New York state's new local option law in regard to Sunday amusements. A crowd of 25,000 attended the contest, which went to the home club by bunting hits of Ragan and Scott in the fourth and fifth innings. The Braves counted twice in the opening inning, but for the remainder of the game were helpless before Marquard. The score: Brooklyn 0 0 0 3 3 0 0 0 6 11 1. Boston 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 7. Batteries: Marquard and Kreuger; Ragan, Scott and Wilson.

CINCINNATI 5, CHICAGO 1
Cincinnati	5	1
Chicago	1	5

CINCINNATI 5, CHICAGO 1.—Cincinnati, May 5.—Sallee, formerly of New York, making his first start of the season for Cincinnati yesterday, held the Chicago champions to three singles, while Weaver and Martin were hit hard, the Reds winning easily, 5 to 1. Weaver lasted only part of an inning, the home team scoring five runs off him on two singles, one pass, a hit batsman, Daubert's triple with the bases full and an error. The attendance was nearly 15,000. The score: Cincinnati 5 0 1 0 1 0 1 0 5 3 0. Chicago 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 3 2. Batteries: Sallee and Rariden; Weaver, Martin, Carter and Killifer, Daly.

PITTSBURGH 3, ST. LOUIS 1.—St. Louis, May 5.—Cooper held St. Louis to five hits while Pittsburgh combined four hits with an error by Cruise in the fourth and opening game of the series here yesterday, 3 to 1. The score: Pittsburgh 1 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 3 9 1. St. Louis 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 6 2. Batteries: Cooper and Schmidt; Meadows, Sherier and Snyder.

PHILADELPHIA 4, NEW YORK 3.—NEW YORK, May 5.—In the first Sunday major league baseball game played since the Sunday amusement law was passed, the New York Nationals lost to Philadelphia by a score of 4 to 3, before a crowd of 35,000 people. Score: Philadelphia 0 0 3 0 0 0 0 1 4 7 1. New York 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 1 3 12 0. Batteries: Jacobs and Adams; Benton, Causey and McCarty.

DIAMOND NOTES

Bobby Veach celebrated his return to the duty with the Detroit club with a great deal of gusto and blew himself out four out of four for a total of seven—two singles, a double and a triple. Perhaps you think Jennings wasn't glad to see him!

Our friend George Tyler may be out of the game for several days due to an injury to his side sustained on the other day while pitching for Terry. Pittsburgh shortstop, Terry, by the way, is back in the big league after a session with Los Angeles following a year or two with Chicago. As a fielder he is hard to match, and weak hitting only kept him out of a permanent place in the team.

It is a most unusual occurrence when a player is able to stay in the box after 10 runs have been scored against him in two innings, but this is just what Jack Coombs did in New York when he allowed "Mule" Watson to stick out a game which was a slaughter of the innocent. The Giants scored five runs in the third and repeated the dose in the fourth.

The Giants give promise of being the most powerful attacking club in the National League, although at present they are hitting third. Brooklyn and Philadelphia lead with an average of 2.8 runs a game, while the Cubs and the New Yorkers in the select circle, Burns leads with an average of 2.0 and is followed by Young, 1.5. Doyle, .833 and Zimmerman .320. Lew McCarty is just outside the mystic ring.

As McGraw looks for another catcher it is interesting to watch Bill Barlen at Cincinnati, who was a gift from New York to the Reds. Old Bill is going better than ever this year, is hitting a modest .500 and leading the league and looks infinitely better than any of the Giant backstops.

Another tough one for McGraw to puzzle out is to line up Walter Holbe with the Braves and then look sorrowfully to ward Prince Hal Chase and use a magnifying glass to find the batter's batting average—it does not even amount to .150. Of course, things may change about before the season ends, but it gives food for thought just now.

At the New York opening against the Phillies the other day, the first player to go to the plate in some years at the Polo grounds was a feature. It was notable inasmuch as at least three of the boys were in step. Not much like the well drilled St. Louis crowd, but they finished last in the standing and almost drilled themselves out of the league.

GIBBONS VS. O'DOWD A POSSIBILITY

It is rumored that the next big fight projected for Newark, N. J., will be a meeting between Billy Miske and Willie Moshu, with a Kilbane-Vaughn or Lynch bout and a Leonard-Britton scrap also in line for booking. Every good thing seems to come from over on the Jersey side. These bouts may look like financial and boxing propositions, but for a real attraction we would like to see ourselves down at the ringside and watch Mike Gibbons and Mike O'Dowd go to it. These two Michaels would surcharge the atmosphere with action. O'Dowd will soon be back from the other side. Gibbons is going great guns and made a show of Soldier Bartheld on the coast the other night. O'Dowd's boxing was one of the features of the inter-Allied carnival in London, in which he went out of his class to win the light-heavyweight championship. He is reported to be longing for a real fight and Gibbons would be just the man to give it to him. In a long battle Gibbons might beat O'Dowd and possibly give him a piece and stop him, but in eight rounds the "Mikes" would put on a mill that would keep the house in uproar. Gibbons is undoubtedly the cleverest middleweight in the business and O'Dowd, the most willing fighter of them all.

Willie Ritchie has decided to retire. Probably he realizes the soft ones have given him his last benefit. He showed, however, that he was as game as they make 'em in his bout with Leonard, for he took more than three ordinary men could stand up under.

Young Jack Johnson, who has made such a good impression in Boston of late, is out with a deft to all of the middleweights, including George Robinson, Tommy Robson, McCreary, Wilson, Joe Rivers, or any who care to box him.

Freddie Madden and Phil Christie have been matched for the semi-final to the Frankie Brit-Benny Valgar contest in Boston on May 13.

With Chick West of Holyoke and Walter Butler of Revere, each claiming the welter title of the New England, it might be good business for some club to sign them up and get the issue settled. With George Alger, Terry Brooks, Bill Carney, Sam Seay and a score of other welterers hanging around, a pretty good round-robin could be staged.

Willard has begun to train for his fight with Dempsey on July 4 by doing a little road work. Pretty good plan if the stories of the champion's excessive weight are true.

The big bitch that seems to be in the Willard-Dempsey bout for Cumberland, Maryland, is whether Tex Rickard can show Governor Harrington the difference between a boxing match and a prize fight. If there is any difference, we have yet to discover it.

Philadelphia is fast acquiring a name too enviable reputation of sending out boxers to be beaten. A demand for a cash forfeit is a sure cure for this phoney business.

BUNTINGS TO GO AFTER JOIE RAY

The Bunting club members met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing plans for a track and field meet to be held at Bunting park May 31, and the committee announced its intention of going after Joie Ray of Chicago, the champion of the indoor track season in the east and middle west, and who now stands at the head of the country's middle distance runners. Knowing that Ray's ambition to better Norman Taber's mile record before retiring, the local club is going to make every effort to get the article. Chicago is not come here to compete, and possibly make an attempt to lower the mile figures on the list. The conditions would necessarily be to be ideal track, wind and pace, but the Bunting club feels that its track is one of the fastest in the state and should appeal to the best of runners.

Before the war the club staged a number of successful meets and brought in big sums to the city treasury, and now the members feel it is high time the organization planned for a resumption of its sport activities, and on a grander scale than ever. The meet, if it is held in the city, will be a big feather in their cap, as practically every athletic association in the east will bid for his services this summer.

BOOTS THIS WEEK

TEXTILE DROPS CLOSE GAME TO ANDOVER

The Lowell Textile school baseball team lost a well played game to Phillips Andover at Andover Saturday, 5 to 3. The academy team scored in the first and second innings, but Noon, Textile pitcher, held them safe thereafter, allowing but four hits during the entire game. A triple by Durrall with two Andover men on the bases in the opening session drove in a pair of runs. Textile reached Wright, the Andover pitcher, for six hits, but could not bunt them sufficiently for a victory. The score: Andover 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 3 4 5. Textile 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 6 3. Batteries: Wright and Dunn; Noon and Goldman.

MITCHELL KEEPS UP ITS GOOD RECORD

The Mitchell Boys' school team kept up its fine record on Saturday when the Wabasset Athletic club nine of Tewksbury was defeated, 12 to 4. Josselyn, Mitchell pitcher, had the game under his thumb all the way. The score by innings: Mitchell 1 2 3 1 4 0 0 0 12 5 5. Wabasset 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 2 4 4 6. Batteries: Josselyn and Northron; D. Sullivan and T. Sullivan.

LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL FIELD DAY, MAY 29

If the schedule of the proposed New England Baseball league does not interfere, this year's high school field day will be held at Spalding park on May 29. This is the tentative date set now and will be fully decided upon early this week. Plans for this year's activities are just being formulated and nothing definite has been decided as yet. The school regiments will hold their first outdoor drills in preparation for the program on the South common next Monday forenoon and will drill there periodically until just prior to the event.

The high school ball team meets Worcester high at Spalding park Thursday of this week in a return game. Lowell won the first game of the series and expects to increase the margin at this second meeting. Outrigger will probably pitch.

Branham Picks Eternal or Billy Kelly To Win This Year's Classic

Despite the unpopularity of kings and the decided scarcity of that article the "Sport of Kings" still flourishes. And that is a mild way of expressing it, too, for the "Sport of Kings" flourishes as it never has flourished before.

Have just come from Churchill Downs, that historic track at Louisville where on May 10 the fifth annual derby will be run. They are making plans to entertain the "greatest crowd that ever gathered at a horse race." At least 50,000 persons are expected. Last year half a million dollars was bet on the race. This year it would not be surprising if the amount was nearly doubled.

And, of course, every reader wants to know first thing who is going to win the great classic of 1919. Old Jim Branham, the great darky, who has seen every race for 44 years and has shod many a Derby winner, doesn't think but he has his favorites. Jim is entitled to pick a winner, but he doesn't talk just for the sake of talking, and he isn't quite sure what he'll win.

"You see," says Jim, "a Derby race is never won until the race is run. It looks like Eternal or Billy Kelly, but you never can tell. If there wouldn't be 50,000 persons trying to see this year's race and betting their good money, it would be nearly doubled."

But Jim admits it he has enough money to bet, and he most always raises a stake, he'll play one or both of his favorites.

Willie Kiam, who won with Exterminator last year, will ride for Harry Payne Whitney this year. Whitney has often been played before—putting two good horses against one good horse. In that case one could only guess which of the two horses would win, which he'd chose to come up winner.

And Schmitzinger, 105 pounds, will ride Eternal. He is a veteran jockey and Jim McClelland, owner of Eternal, The Wanderer and Sallor, chose wisely.

Both Eternal and Billy Kelly are Kentucky bred horses. It has always been a battle between Kentucky three-year-olds and eastern and foreign bred runners.

THIS YEAR'S DERRY MARKS PASSING OF HISTORIC AND FAMOUS MINT JULEP

This year's Derby will be the classic of all. It will be held over the Churchill Downs track at Louisville May 10. There will be 10 or 12 three-year-olds in the race.

Louisville is preparing for the greatest crowd in history. At least 50,000 persons are expected. Between $500,000 and a million dollars will be bet through the pari-mutuel machines.

And the historic and famous "mint julep" will pass with this year's race. It long has been an institution at Churchill Downs where 75 feet of bar and an army of bartenders catered to the thirsty.

AUTO AND MOTOR-CYCLE ACCIDENTS

Burton Cole, a resident of Chelmsford street, is in a serious condition at the Lowell Corporation hospital as a result of an automobile accident which occurred on the Groton road last evening.

Mr. Cole is suffering from a fracture of the left leg, a fracture of the right hip and a probable fracture of the skull. Three other persons, who also figured in the accident, were slightly injured.

Mr. Cole was on his way to Graniteville in the early part of the evening. Just before he reached Graniteville he swerved off the road to avoid an oncoming automobile and crashed into a tree. The driver was thrown heavily and the other occupants were hurled over an embankment. The car was demolished.

The driver of the other car was Manfred McComber of 551 Rogers street, who rushed Cole to the hospital.

BETSY ROSS BREAD

WHO WAS BETSY ROSS? Most of the people of Lowell know. She was the little Colonial lady, commissioned by Congress, to make the first American flag.

Her eyes were the first that ever beheld Old Glory.

Her spirit was the first ever thrilled by the beauty of the Stars and Stripes and by the thought of what they were to symbolize.

Betsy Ross was typical of resourceful and capable American womanhood—always ready with aid and inspiration in time of stress.

THERE ARE REASONS why we should recall Betsy Ross to mind at this time.

The banner with which her name is forever associated has been carried to a new and great victory.

The principles for which our banner stands are conquering the minds of nations.

And, lastly, American women have done a great war work in the past few years—just as Betsy Ross did a great war work in her day.

Commemorating Our 20th Anniversary in the Baking Business

It is such thought as this that has led the Morehouse Baking Company in celebrating its 20th Anniversary with the introduction of a new and superior loaf of bread, to choose for this bread the name of this famous American woman and patriot.

The name is especially apt for another reason. Our loaf is not unrelated to recent events. It is to some degree an outgrowth of wartime difficulties. The Morehouse Baking Company in its endeavor to produce a highly palatable bread in the face of war-time restrictions, engaged in study and research which taught some valuable general lessons in baking science.

These lessons apply to the baking of all-wheat bread, as well as to the baking of substitute bread. They have enabled us now to produce a finer all-wheat loaf than ever in the past. In offering a new bread, we also offer a BETTER bread—the best bread, we believe, which human ingenuity has yet succeeded in producing. If we knew how to make a better bread than Betsy Ross, we would do so.

BETSY ROSS BREAD GOES ON SALE TODAY IN NEARLY EVERY GROCERY STORE IN LOWELL

And Will Soon Be Available Throughout an Extended Territory

It is a loaf which will do honor to the little Colonial Lady for whom it is named, and to the women of our territory to whom it is dedicated. We believe you will find BETSY ROSS bread the finest you have ever tasted. Won't you try it today and put our opinion to the test?

ANTI-ANARCHY BILL

Boston's Bolshevik Demonstration Likely To Have Unlooked For Effect

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 3.—Thursday's socialist and Bolshevik demonstration in Boston is likely to have an effect quite the opposite of that intended by those responsible for it. One of the first results, in a legislative way, will probably be the speedy passage of the Bates anti-anarchy bill which provides drastic penalties for seditious utterances and for having in one's possession literature containing statements opposed to organized government.

This bill, it will be remembered, was once reported by the committee on the judiciary, and was rushed through the house under suspension of the rules. When it reached the senate, however, certain timid souls feared that it might result in the loss of votes in some future campaign and had it sent back to the committee for further study. A public hearing was given at which numerous socialists spoke, making such fantastic arguments that House Chairman Essex S. Abbott of Haverhill was prompted to remark that they had "amply demonstrated the urgent need of just this sort of legislation."

Since that time, however, some unseen influence has succeeded in preventing a report by the committee, and today Rep. Gillen of Boston presented in the house an order directing the committee to report the bill forthwith. The order was temporarily sidetracked by reference to the committee on rules, but there is no doubt that unless the judiciary committee reports the bill forthwith the house will order a report and again pass the bill along to the senate.

Friday the senate listened to a stirring address on the kindred movement, as exemplified by the Non-Partisan league in North Dakota, Russell D. Chase, former state attorney in that state was introduced in the senate and addressed it in part as follows:

"I was impressed in reading of the disturbances in Roxbury by a group of men who seek to change the existing form of government. At the same time I read of similar outbreaks in Glasgow, Scotland. From what I know of a similar movement much more advanced in North Dakota I urge that you do all in your power to counteract this movement.

"Today the red flag is recognized in the northern part of North Dakota, recognized at least by the leaders of the people there. They are a part of the men who under the name of the Non-Partisan league have got control of the entire state machinery. This was accomplished mainly through a man named Townley, who after having failed in an attempt to become a farmer, capitalized the discontent of farmers with the grain selling system so that they balloted all the league candidates into office. League organizers canvassed the country district in Ford automobiles and charged the middlemen and capitalists with carrying for nothing but their own interest.

"Now in the saddle, they control the legislature, the executive and the courts. At the session of our general court in 1918 the league pushed through one bill which placed all the current resources of the state, about $135,000,000, in the hands of the governor and his advisers, men knowing little of banking. Other legislation enacted is such as to stamp the session as the most disgraceful in the history of the state.

"Should the league, or any other organization with similar aspirations or tendencies appear in Massachusetts, there is but one course to pursue—drive it into the Atlantic."

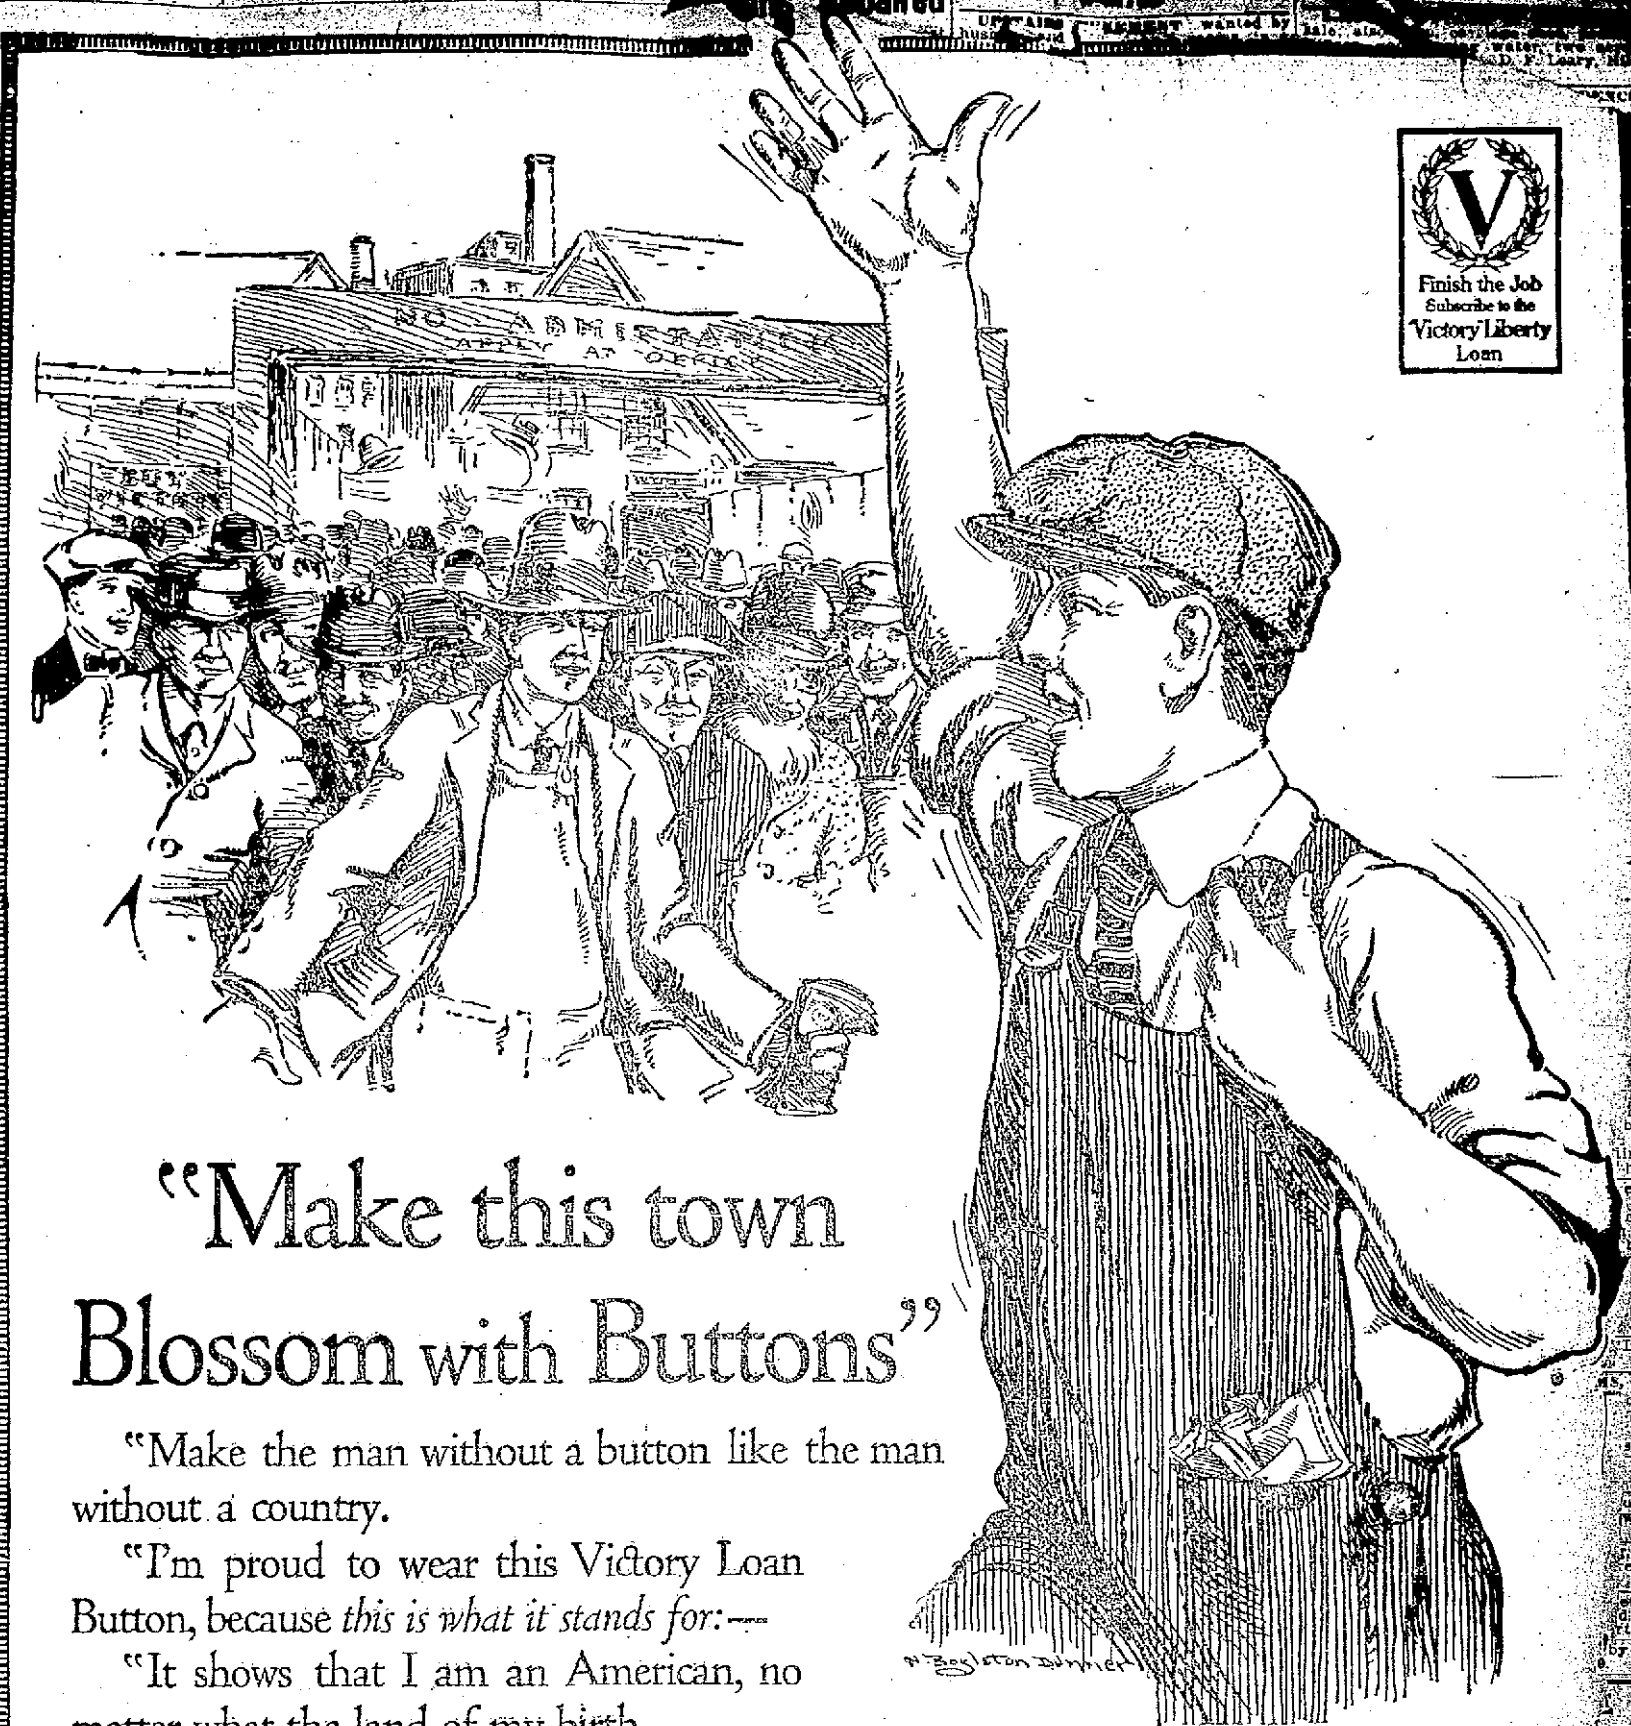

Following Mr. Chase's address the senate took up for consideration a bill authorizing the seizure of arms and ammunition in private houses, if in the opinion of a competent court the amounts are in excess of what might be considered reasonable, and it occasioned a warm debate, being opposed by Senators Nichols of Boston and Cavanaugh of Everett, the latter declaring that certain professors at Harvard constitute a greater menace to the commonwealth than do the uneducated Bolsheviks who blindly follow their teachings. "I have noted," he said, "that at least two of the leaders in the anti-government parade in Roxbury are instructors at Harvard college. To my mind there is far greater danger in permitting such men as these to inculcate Bolshevik ideas in the minds of the young than there is in the carrying of secreted firearms." Action on the matter was finally postponed until today.

The house also had a bitter debate occasioned by Speaker Warner taking the floor for the purpose of censuring his colleagues for their dilatory tactics, more noticeable this year than for many years. Following his usual custom, he mined his words not at all, hitting straight from the shoulder and hesitating not the slightest to indicate just where in his opinion the blame lies. That his words struck home was immediately apparent, however, for several members jumped to their feet and vigorously protested their earnest wish that the legislative business be expedited as much as possible. After one hour's debate, the house unanimously adopted an order, offered by the speaker, providing that each Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday until the session is ended the house will sit in the forenoon as well as the afternoon.

Surrounded by returned soldiers, sailors and marines, Governor Coolidge Saturday affixed his signature to the bill, based upon his own recommendation, providing that veterans of any war in which the United States has engaged shall be entitled to a preference in all civil service examinations. It stipulates that whenever a veteran passes the required examination, his name shall be placed on the eligible list above the names of all who are not veterans. HOYT.

Liberty Loan Committee of New England

This advertisement is endorsed and paid for by the Lowell Bleachery as a part of their efforts to "finish the job" of war financing.

Liberty Loan Committee for Lowell
Middlesex, 18 Shattuck Street. Telephone 100

The Sun on Saturday that the big contract was at the present time 35 per cent completed.

By June 20 he said, a time which is in fact three months earlier than the Boston & Maine railroad, for whom the work is being done, had expected would be the case, his company will not only have finished work on this project, but will have moved all its tools and equipment off the job to the next job in this vicinity where its men will work.

The satisfaction of Lowell citizens, the railroad officials and the railroad stockholders, at this announcement, can easily be imagined. It means, concretely, that the great facilities of this modern storage yard for freight and passenger cars, together with the accompanying equipment of the big roundhouse and machine shop, will be available not only for Lowell as a city but for the eastern part of Massachusetts, three months before the time it was originally expected would be the case.

Good Weather and Labor

This exceptional good fortune is due, as Mr. Sheehan modestly asserts, to the fine weather experienced during the winter for this particular kind of out-of-doors work, and to the good labor market to which the contractor has had access since the first of this year.

At the present time 210 men are employed at the Middlesex Village, of whom 60 are skilled workers. The roundhouse, sort of the center and most important part of the project, is done except for putting on a small amount of inside finish. All the tracks inside the roundhouse are already laid. This roundhouse will stably 12 engines of heaviest type in its inside stalls, and 12 engines for the outside stalls. It is equipped with the most modern type of machine shop and engine repair plant which will, when in full operation, furnish work for 30 highly skilled mechanics. The roundhouse will have two locomotive cranes.

Electricity will be the power used to operate the great 100 foot locomotive turntable. This turntable will handle the heaviest locomotives used on the Boston & Maine road and will be used for the first time this week Friday. It is said that it turns a locomotive around as easily and noiselessly as a bicycle wheel turns.

Track Work Nearly Done

Three trucks, comprising one and a half miles of track altogether, have been completed in their entirety. Nine more miles of track must be built but so much of the grading and ballasting has been done, that this nine miles of track at the Middlesex yard will be built far quicker than would at first be thought.

The same amount of filling is being hauled to the site as has been maintained practically all winter, from 50 to 80 dump car loads per day. The water tower at Middlesex station is completed and work is fast going forward on the pumping station plant, necessary to take water from the Merrimack river and all the big aerial tank. There is a big steam shovel working at Middlesex station as there is a great amount of grading and blasting to be done.

The excavation work here has been found to be very troublesome and very expensive. Five steam drills fed by two big boilers are at work on the stone encountered and the gang doing this work is large enough and is so divided that a 24 hour day of work at drilling is being accomplished and has been the custom for quite some little time. A complete blacksmith shop in this part of the job, and skilled drill sharpeners are constantly employed at their highly essential work.

Boston & Maine Pleased

It is known that the Boston & Maine

road officials are very much pleased with the amount of work accomplished. The federal loan made so this work could be accomplished, was for $2,000,000. This will all be used up but the government has forbidden its being overdrawn for any purpose whatever. The contractors estimate that the Boston & Maine, when the work is finished, will have secured in actual work and visible results, 50 per cent more for the money spent, than it was thought could be procured when the preliminary estimates and plans were first drawn. The contractors explain that this highly satisfying thing has been due in part, to the labor market by which plenty of good labor could be secured and at reasonable wages.

Besides the Middlesex yard work being 85 per cent done, the work being carried on by Wilson & English has involved the removal of 250,000 cubic yards at Stony Brook cut off, so called, and its being used to ballast and grade the double tracking between North and West Chelmsford, two tracks each about three miles long. To rebuild this section of road it was necessary to raise the level of the roadbed an average of five feet, and the width of slightly more than the two tracks, for the distance between North and West Chelmsford. A great deal of filling has been drawn from West Chelmsford to Middlesex Village and used to fill the storage tracks.

decided up-shoot this forenoon and by 12 o'clock, Uncle Dudley's faithful chronicle stood at 80 degrees of real summer heat. The prevalent and rather well sprinkled with essence of camphor or some other moth exterminator, double storm doors were yanked from their hinges and put down cellar, there to remain for the next six months, overcoats went into the large box up in the spare room, and in their stead came the sheltering store awnings, cool shirtwaists and the lee cream soda. It is a rare old day, conducive to blank expressioned dreaming of pouncing surf and ever-changing mountain coloring.

Last night's electrical storm, while doing no known damage to wires or trunks, seemed to knock the skids from under Old Man Winter and send him back to cold storage once and for all. The storm rolled down the river valley from the north and brought with it a cold, blast of howling wind from White River Junction way. The rain pelted down for a while and at times seemed almost to turn to hail. Windows rattled and all but gave way before it, while the heavens were lighted with zigzagging flashes of menacing lightning. As the storm lingers directly over the city the reverberating peals of thunder came simultaneously with the flashes and caused many a tousled head to be drawn down under the "covers." The lightning display was as brilliant and vivid as any within memory.

The public schools reopened today, too, after ten days of vacation and the pupils were the happiest persons imaginable as they settled down once more to Caesar and Cleo. It was an ideal day to forsake the great outdoors for the schoolroom and the scholars observed it by window gazing and a total absence of the receptive mind.

DEATHS

MURPHY—Miss Nellie Murphy, daughter of the late James and Elizabeth (Foster) Murphy, died late Saturday night at her home in Schoon street. She leaves two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Murphy and Mrs. John P. Redding. The body was taken to the chapel of James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

JOSEPH CORDIA IS SENTENCED

Man Recently Acquitted of Murder Found Guilty of Abusing Minor Girl

Must Serve From Four to Six Years—Faci Wants
New Trial

CAMBRIDGE, May 5.—Joseph Cordia, recently acquitted in Lowell as one of the principals of a murder case in Burlington, was arraigned before Judge Dubuque in the superior criminal court here today and on the indictment which charged him with abuse of a minor girl, was sentenced to serve from four to six years in state prison, sentence to start immediately.

Cordia had been indicted also on a charge of adultery but this indictment against him was filed. Cordia was represented before Judge Dubuque by Attorney Daniel Donahue of Lowell. The "innocent" was represented by District Attorney Nathan Tufts who recommended to Judge Dubuque that he receive a sentence of from four to six years.

It was expected that the plea of "insanity" would be made in connection with the case in which Cordia was acquitted, for a new trial, might be heard this morning before Judge Dubuque.

The district attorney speaking in relation to this case, told the court that Mr. Sawyer, counsel for Faci, was able to attend court this morning on account of being obliged to appear at another court and that Attorney Sawyer had suggested that the plea for a new trial be heard sometime in September.

The district attorney objected to so long a postponement. It was left that Mr. Tufts will try to hold conference with Mr. Sawyer with a view of the case concerning a new trial coming before Judge Dubuque tentatively on Monday, June 9.

ANARCHIST OUTBREAK A FLAT FAILURE

Buenos Aires, Sunday, May 4.—Today's anarchist demonstration was a flat failure as a result of the activities of the vigilance committees, which in spite of the announced suspension of the anarchist plans for a manifestation, took up positions shortly after noon in all the plazas to prevent informal gatherings. Members of the committees wore white handkerchiefs around their sleeves and no other civilians were permitted to cross the plazas or stand on the sidewalks.

WATER PUMPAGE Excessive Now—How About After July 1?

A total of 6,500,000 gallons of water being pumped daily by the local department at the present time and is 1,300,000 gallons more than the normal pumpage. The increase due to the opening of 31 new wells in the Pawtucket boulevard. Commissioner Charles J. Morse has had his men working on the dig of a new line of old wells and these are completed. The pumpage will be even greater. This week old wells will be opened only one and eventually the commissioner will do away with them altogether. The improvements in the appearance of the surrounding of the pumping station have also been made and the commissioner has turned to Supt. John W. Kernan of department the work of laying rectangular plots in front of the station to be bordered with trees and also the planting of cypresses in front of the station.

LOWELL COPS TO QUIT LAWRENCE

All Police Work in Down River City Will Be Performed by Lawrence Men

Former Soldiers Replace Out of Town Officers—Machine Gun Crew Called

LAWRENCE, May 5.—A machine gun crew was added to the police force today and assisted in dispersing crowds of textile strike sympathizers, although the gun was not actually brought into use. Reports that strike leaders had arranged a big demonstration "to signalize the opening of the 14th week of the strike" had led the police to take extra precautions. It proved to be one of the most peaceful Monday mornings since the strike began.

The only call for help came from White and Oak streets, in the tenement district, where a crowd was annoying mill operatives on their way to work. The machine gun squad went along with a police detail sent there, but the crowd was dispersed with little difficulty. All the men of the gun crew are former soldiers. They were in police uniform and commanded by Sergeant Joseph Casey of Company F, 101st Regiment, who was decorated for bravery in France.

It is announced that hereafter all police work will be performed by Lawrence officers, and that the places of officers hired from other cities will be taken by former soldiers.

A trolley car containing mill workers was stoned and windows in the car broken but the police said no one was injured. Three arrests were made on minor charges during the morning.

ANOTHER BRITISH TEAM ENTERS BIG FLIGHT

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 5.—Another British team of aspirants for trans-Atlantic flight honors has entered the London Daily Mail's $50,000 prize competition. Captain Alcock, pilot, and Lieut. ## COTTON BY AIRPLANE

No New Aeration Process To Be Tried Out—Simply an Airplane Demonstration

The proposition to carry a bale of cotton from Georgia to this city by airplane, to be manufactured here and returned to the southland by the same vehicle, is now wholly in the hands of Capt. Charles J. Glidden, the Lowell man who is now stationed in the office of the headquarters of the eastern department at New York. Captain Glidden sent a letter to Mayor Thompson, which was received today, stating that he was working on arrangements and would notify His Honor as soon as they are completed. He states that the object of the affair is to demonstrate the power of the airplane in the transmission of merchandise. It will also serve as an incentive to stir up interest in the Victory loan campaign.

MEMORIAL DAY

The Joint Memorial Day committee hereby extends to all uniformed organizations an earnest invitation to turn out in the parade on the afternoon of May 30th.

Being the first memorial season after the close of the great world war, they hope that all the services will be made memorable ones, as they will include an additional tribute to those heroes who have so lately increased the number of the nation's dead. With additional subscriptions of $200,000 by the Central Savings bank, $100,000 by the Mechanics Savings bank, $25,000 by the U. S. Worsted Co. and approximately $100,000 in individual purchases, Lowell's Victory loan total made a substantial advance this morning and now stands in the neighborhood of $3,700,000, with five more days to go. The further purchases by the Central and Mechanics banks raise their totals to $500,000 and $200,000 respectively. Another good bit of news came to light today with the subscription of $150,000 by the Silesia mills of North Chelmsford, which will be credited to the town of Chelmsford's quota. ## REDS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES

Russian, British and American Forces Completely
Repulse Bolsheviks

First Attack by Bolsheviks
Gunboats on Dvina Repelled by Allies

ARCHANGEL, Friday, May 2 (By the Associated Press).—Allied forces succeeded yesterday in repulsing the first attack by Bolshevik gunboats on the Dvina. The enemy fleet attempted to approach the positions held by American, British and Russian forces on the right bank of the river, but failed, the allies having guns mounted which covered all parts of the channel. Artillery fire continued from both the river flotilla and the Bolshevik batteries at Tutugas, but up to this morning, no allied casualties were reported.

The ice was broken up in the river near Archangel and it is only a matter of a few days when the allied gun-boats can force their way upstream and go to the aid of the allied land defenses.

On the Vaga sector the Bolsheviks suffered heavy losses yesterday when after a long bombardment they attacked the village of Berenzik, which was defended by Russian and British infantry and American engineers.

Moving to the north of the village, the Bolshevik infantry attempted to penetrate the allied wire entanglements.
They were completely repulsed, leaving 30 or 40 dead in front of the wire defenses and more in the forest nearby.

Another enemy force which attempted to cut the allied line of communications east of the Vaga was also repulsed. Twenty of this party surrendered when surrounded by the allies. The allied casualties there yesterday were only four wounded.

First Leg of Overseas

Right Wings of NC-1 Destroyed—NC-4 Can Be Repaired For Start

NEW YORK, May 5.—Fire at the naval air station at Rockaway beach today damaged the naval seaplanes NC-1 and NC-4, which were to start tomorrow morning on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight.

The right wings of the NC-1 were destroyed. It is believed that the NC-4 can be repaired in time for the "jump off."

Commander Towers announced that the start for Newfoundland, where the trans-Atlantic flight is scheduled to begin, would be made tomorrow, weather permitting, with the NC-3 very likely with the NC-4 and possibly with the NC-1.

The blaze started from an electric spark which ignited gasoline on the NC-1. The flames enveloped the wings and spread to those of the NC-4, which occupied the same hangar. Air station employees extinguished the fire after slight damage had been done to the NC-4.

The blaze started when workmen were filling the gasoline tanks of the NC-1. Both the upper and lower right wings, which only recently were transferred to the machine from the NC-1, were burned from their framework.

BANQUET AT THE STATE ARMORY

The first formal banquet to any of the Lowell units which took part in the world war will be given this evening at the state armory in Westford street, when the boys of Battery F, 102d Field Artillery, hero of many a deadly scrap "over there," will be the feasted guests of the battery auxiliary.

Among the speakers of the evening expected are Col. J. F. J. Herbert of Worcester, commander of the battery's regiment; Otto Hookmeyer, "godfather" of the battery; Capt. W. C. Mac-Brayne, former officer of the outfit as well as various other military officials and municipal officers. Members of the battery and their immediate relatives will be present and it is expected that about 500 will attend. Following the banquet and speechmaking general dancing will be enjoyed.

DOGS KILLED BY AUTOMOBILES— DOG FIGHT YESTERDAY IN MERRIMACK SQUARE

Three valuable dogs were run over by automobiles yesterday and in each instance the injuries were of such a nature that Assistant Agent Gilmore of the humane society was called and he was forced to use his re-over in Rogers street, another on the Lawrence road and the third in upper Gorham street.

Appropos of dogs there was a little excitement in front of the Sun building shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, when a bull dog owned by E.
Garfield Baker of Middlesex street was attacked by another bull dog. The two animals rolled in the street and went to it in real pit style until separated. No casualties.

(By the Associated Press)
Italy's delegation to the peace conference will return to Paris in time for the ceremony of handing the peace treaty to the German plenipotentiaries.

This sudden change in the situation was announced in Paris today. Presi-

Announcement that the Italian delegates would return came quickly after it became known that the council of three had despatched a message to Rome.

The terms of the peace treaty will be made known to the smaller powers at a plenary session of the peace conference which was called today to meet tomorrow in the French foreign office.

PEACE TREATY TO BE PRESENTED THURSDAY

PARIS, May 5.—(By the Associated

ZOO CLUB PUTS ON SHOW FOR SALVATION ARMY

"Though she called each a brother, She's more like a mother, Salvation lassie of mine."

Sang Edward Donahue at the Zoo club show given at the Lowell Opera House last evening, and when the last notes of this justly popular ballad which tells of the wonderful work of the Salvation lasses on the shell-torn fields of France and Flanders had died away the playhouse shook with applause. For among the audience, which last night filled this spacious theatre to the limit were many mothers, fathers, sweethearts and sisters of boys who had returned and told the story of the lasses—and men, too—who were willing to serve, help and comfort to their utmost.

Perhaps this was why the Zoo club gave their show as a benefit performance to this great organization. And it was some show. "One of the best, if not the best amateur productions that Lowell has seen in years" was the way many of the audience commented on the entertainment as they started homeward. Harmony, pep, jazz and color were there in abundance, and each and every member of the cast, from the members of the chorus of 40 voices to the interloper, went over the top and then some.

lowed by a musical absurdity in one act entitled "A Night at the Zoo Club." Perhaps the biggest hit of the vaudeville program was the O'Reilly Family orchestra—and it certainly is a fine "jazz band" with Little Miss Peggy O'Reilly occupying the stellar role. Peggy taps the drums, extracts harmonies from a xylophone and when it comes to singing—well, just ask the audience. Peggy knows how to put over a popular song to perfection and her two numbers, "How You Going to Keep 'Em Down on the Farm," and "Come On, Papa," were a real treat.

Following Peggy came Lowell's boy soprano, Bernard Knopf, and this youngster literally brought down the house. "Si, Si, Senor" was his first contribution, and his closing number, "You'll Find Old Dixie Land in France," was one of the gems of the evening.

Next came Alice Glenister, the popular little ingenue of the Emerson Players in "Without You," followed by Nemo Gallagher Leahy in several pleasing selections. Florence Saxton, who needs no introduction to Lowell theatre-goers, sang "What a Time for the Girls When the Boys Come Marching Home," and was encored to the limit.

And then a demure little maid straight from old Japan tripped out behind the foot lights and Jane Salisbury, who has endeared herself to the hearts of Lowell people for several months as leading woman of the Emerson Players, sang "Japannette." The Japanese maiden disappeared and in her place came a little girl in a gingham gown who told how she had at last solved the way to spell "Mississippi." Miss Salisbury's numbers were splendidly given, and she merited the applause—and the bouquets, too, with which she was showered.

Several professional acts, four of which were provided by Manager Averill of the Owl theatre, who is a member of the club, were put on, and all were of a high calibre. Madeline Boland, who is filling an engagement at the Owl theatre, was heard in song numbers and was well received.

The last number on the vaudeville program consisted of a novel musical exchange by three well known local boys, James Deignan, William McGrath and Thomas Buckley. Deignan and McGrath furnished the vocal numbers, with Buckley accompanying on a violin and the trio gave a performance second to none. Deignan's contributions were a yodel song and "Till Say She Does," and McGrath offered "Tony Spaghetti's Jubilee."

Following a brief intermission, the Zoo club presented its first show, which was labelled a musical absurdity, and both music and absurdity, as well as lots of comedy, made the entertainment a "corner" from start to finish. The merry-makers and fun producers included the Honey Boy quartet, Julian Non and Augustine J. Glassmire of the Emerson company, and other well known song and dance artists who have signed up with the "Zoo." The end men were Edward (Tip) Handley, Jas. Lyons and Messrs. Non and Glassmire, and four troubadours from sunny Spain, the parts of the troubadours being taken by John Glenison, Leo Deignan, David Boyle and Christopher Allen who also did their bit in putting over the show, and were on hand with harmony all the time.

The opening chorus consisted of several "jazzy" melodies, and was followed by a recitation by Arthur McEvoy telling about the trials and troubles of one "Christopher Colombo" who pursued Queen Isabella to help him discover America. Alex. Beaumier in "Little Mother of Mine" showed that he has not lost a bit of his ability, and James Lyons in the end song, "N' Everything," demonstrated that he is still there with the goods in the musical line. David Boyle sang "Today, Tomorrow and Forever," and sang it as only "Dave" can. "Tip" Handley was at his best—and his best is mighty good—in "Can You Tame Wild Women?" Perhaps the biggest hit of the evening was Edward Donahue's "Salvation Lassie of Mine." Mr. Donahue interpreted the spirit of this wonderful song perfectly, and was encored again and again.

Augustine J. Glassmire, in whose efficient and untiring work as director of the show the success of the event was mainly due, sang, "I'm a Cave Man," and displayed a lot of pep. John Handley in "Till We Meet Again" went over the top, and Julian Non's contribution, "Alcoholic Blues," left no doubt in the minds of the audience that July 1 will be a sad, sad day. The Honey Boy quartet were the final soloists of the evening and gave several brand new numbers as only the Honey Boys can. "The Song That I Heard in My Dreams" was one of their best numbers, and "As You Were" also made a hit.

The finale was the singing of "The Statue of Liberty is Smiling" by the entire chorus, with solo sustained by John Glenison. As the last song ended Lowell's own huggers, Messrs. Douglas and Drouin of Battery F played "To the Colors" while in the background of the stage the "Statue of Liberty" appeared framed against a large Old Glory and bearing an electrically lighted torch, making a fitting termination of a splendid performance.

RIGHT WAY TO CAN ASPARAGUS

Canning asparagus, one of the most delicate and delicious of vegetables, has always presented a hard problem to the home food conserver. Canned asparagus has a delicate flavor and texture which makes it highly desirable for winter use as a salad, for soups or creamed as a vegetable, but in cooking it often becomes too soft to handle and pack in jars, or retain its shape and attractiveness when ready to use on the table.

The cold-pack canning process requires that asparagus be blanched for 15 or 20 minutes, then sterilized for three hours in boiling water. With this long process there is a good deal of loss by spoilage and the final product is apt to be very soft.

Hoping to improve the results, girl students in the department of domestic science, Kansas Agricultural

MORE TIPS FOR HOME

This is the fifth in a series of articles prepared for Sun readers by famous women specialists on household affairs. This article is by Emma M. Gunther, professor of household administration, Columbia university.

One aim in housekeeping is to get a fresh start.

Begin on the kitchen: study the present arrangement of the three working centers—the stove, the sink and the table—and unless they are so related as to save steps, the plan is wrong.

Re-plan. If the stove and the sink are on opposite sides of the room, and it is impossible to move them, try making a connecting link by using a table in the center of the room. A wheel tray may be used, or a slight table converted to such a use by means of rollers saves steps. How near is your refrigerator to the back door? How close to your dining room are your serving dishes?

Re-group utensils. Next, gather the small tools around the working center at which they are to be used. The same principle as that of the kitchen cabinet—to have the working outfit near at hand—may be applied by grouping the right utensils near the table; not covers in racks near the stove; cleaning supplies near the sink. Be alert to see where you can make simple changes; it is an economy to have two salt shakers instead of wasting steps.

Rearrange heights of working surfaces. Why not reduce fatigue? One of the best alterations at this house-cleaning time is to arrange the heights of tables, ironing boards and other working surfaces so that the housewife does not tire by working in a bad position. If the sink is too low, for a small cost it can be made higher; otherwise, a block of wood, or a pan upside down, will raise the dishpan in the sink. It is possible, too, to have stoves raised by using blocks of wood.

Pew No. 54 in Christ church, Boston, purchased in 1808 by Joseph Warren Revere, son of Paul Revere, is still owned by his descendants.

Lowell Man Had Rheumatism 25 Years—Praises Goldine

Wm. Murphy, 30 Claire street, Lowell, who is cotton sampler at Massachusetts Mills and well known in this city, said:

"I have had rheumatism for 25 years. I have done everything I could but kept getting worse all the time. It settled in my hips and I got so bad I could only shuffle along when I walked. It seemed to jump to different places and my shoulders became lame and stiff. My hands felt numb and I was dizzy."

"I often had sharp pains around my heart and could not sleep. Some one advised me to try Goldine and I did. It helped me from the very start. I could feel that medicine go all through me as no other medicine ever did. Inside of a week the pain was gone and I felt better in every way. Of all the medicine I have taken in the last 25 years Goldine worked the quickest and gave me the most relief. I am glad to recommend such a remedy to the people of Lowell. Tell them not to hesitate to ask me about it."

WILLIAM MURPHY.

NOT OUR WORD, BUT THEIRS

In the two weeks and two days that we have been in Lowell we have shown you the remarkable results produced by Goldine No. 2, our special rheumatism remedy in your city. We have not asked you to take our word, but have given you the name, street address and statement of twenty people in Lowell whom you know and ask you to call on them and find out for yourself. Hundreds are coming for Goldine, sent by friends who have used it and know its benefits. These results have never been equaled in this city. In buying a remedy you should demand that it show equal results. If we prove our superior merit there can be no question of choice. We leave the decision to you. Come and talk it over with me at Carter & Sherburne's Drug Store. Do not diagnose or prescribe or even insist on you buying Goldine. I know if you want relief you will get it in Goldine. Lowell people say so. Don't make any mistake on name or place.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Tarzan, the mysterious, will appear this week at the B. F. Keith theatre, beginning this afternoon. Tarzan, as yet not classified, hundreds have tried to figure out just what he is, whether he be highly developed ape, man just emerging from the ape stage of life, or man who has been brought up with apes of the higher kinds. There is much food for real thought and during the entire week there is bound to be much of speculation as to just what Tarzan is. This is sure to prove a highly sensational feature.

The Klein Brothers are to be seen in their own skit called "Ain't It Grand?" It is comedy from the time the brothers land on the stage, and it is the popular sort which they give all of the time. Of course, music plays no small part in what they offer. Everything is done splendidly and this in no small measure accounts for their high standing.

Frank Mullane sings with the voice and the dignity of an operatic tenor. He jests and jokes with wit and freedom. And he sings his beautiful "Musical Scales and Humorous Tales." Mullane doesn't pose as anything wonderful, but the fact remains that he does several things more than ordinarily well. His story telling is most artistic.

Leona Stephens and Len D. Hollister have a new musical playlet called "Out in California." Both players have had much sound experience on the stage. Miss Stephens having had the leading role in the musical comedy, "The Only Girl," while Mr. Hollister was leading man with May Irvin in "The Vaudeville Partnership." Their vaudeville partnership has been specially productive of good entertainment, of a clean, thoroughly modern kind.

Two attractive young women are the Amores Sisters, who sing, dance and are skilled exponents of physical culture. And they toss in a little comedy for good measure. The girls are good examples of what physical culture can accomplish.

Miss Aubrey and Estelle Riche are a pair of captivating dummies. They dance very well and have pleasing voices. The costumes are wonderfully pretty. And playing it is done by Frank Jarckley rank very high. Indeed, it has a most varied character, ranging from the popular to the most intricate of overtures. The Kinograms are a film comedy will also be seen each performance.

THE STRIP

Great Naxos, noted screen favor, will appear in her latest film offering, "Out of the Fog," at the Strand. Beginning with matinee today, the picture affords a most really reliable screen story, an adaptation of the famous Naxos' recent success, "Centin Shoals." The picture is highly dramatic and shows the star her best. The Russian actress plays a role—the mother and the child grown to womanhood. The supporting cast is made up of noted film stars, and the excellent photography and remarkable scenic effects help to make the offering one of the most commendable shown in Lowell in many months.

CRAIG KENNEDY IN "THE CARTER CASE" AT THE MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

"Spotlight Sadie," a great comedy drama, featuring the Goldwyn star, Mac Marsh, will be the other feature on the bill, and this, too, should give satisfaction to all patrons. A Mutt and Jeff comedy, and the usual pictorial review, as well as song numbers by Miss Mildred Eford, will help round out a program of rare merit. And the prices never change. The prices for the matinee are 10 and 15 cents, and at night, 10, 15 and 25 cents.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Old Lady 31," Rachel Crother's big stage success of recent months, will be played for the third time in exact by the Emerson All Star Players at the Lowell Opera House this week. Little need be said of the worth of the piece, for it is too well known among patrons of the theatre. Suffice it to say that it enjoyed unusual runs on Broadway and at the Plymouth theatre, Boston. Miss Jane Salisbury and Tullian Noa, will appear in the parts of the elderly couple, and should make big hits. The play has much heart-interest, and a generous sprinkling of rich humor. Miss Girard-Huntington's mother, who is close to the three-quarter century mark, will make her re-appearance on the stage after an absence of 35 years.

in the role of the grandmother. A big attendance is anticipated. Order your tickets early and avoid disappointment. Tel. 261.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Today marked the formal opening of one of the greatest serial productions that Lowell motion play fans have ever seen when Craig Kennedy in "The Carter Case," starring Herbert Rawlinson and Margaret March, began a 15 weeks' engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre.

Arthur R. Reeves is the capable author of the Craig Kennedy series of scientific detective stories which have been published in the leading magazines of the country and now the product of this master mind has been transferred to the cinema so that everybody may have an opportunity of seeing the absorbing adventures of Kennedy realistically portrayed.

The magnificent and accurate reproduction of scientific instruments and processes in this serial are said to exert upon a large portion of the public a fascination entirely novel and unparalleled in any photoplay thus far exhibited.

The spectacular progress of science in recent years and its amazing practical use as demonstrated in the great war have inspired thousands of youngsters from 5 to 85 with well-bound interest in the mystery of the laboratory. What's more, thousands have been inspired to test their own inventive genius in making experiments. Science has really become a popular pastime.

Full opportunity to see a practical demonstration of this hobby is afforded in the Craig Kennedy serial and the episode which will be shown at the Merrimack Square theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday, entitled "The Phosgene Bullet," is especially appealing.

Margaret Marsh and Ellen Grey Terry, leading stars in this great serial, will soon appear in person at the Merrimack Square theatre. The serial will be shown every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the next 15 weeks. There will be a showing after school hours every afternoon for the benefit of the school children of the city.

WASHINGTON STREET MAN
FINDS HEALTH IN NEW REMEDY

Unable To Walk, Sends Wife For Medicine—Ten Days Later Walks Down Town Himself

What appears to be another remarkable recovery from rheumatism was related by Mr. B. Fitzgerald, who lives at 740 Washington street, Haverhill. He gives all the credit to Weldon, the rheumatic remedy which is becoming so popular in this city.

When asked for a statement he said: "I have had rheumatism about four years. It is very severe in the winter and during the cold weather and this year was no exception. My hip gave me a great deal of trouble, so much so that I was unable to lift my foot or find a comfortable position. I couldn't sleep, move or turn, the pain would wake me up and I would suffer agony for hours. It seemed to wake me up about the same time each morning. I was in pretty bad shape when I first started to take this Weldon. I could not walk and had to send my wife to the store for it. Well, in less than 10 days I was able to go to the store myself and show the Weldon man just what Weldon did for me. I have not an ache or a rheumatic pain, and give all the credit to this remarkable medicine. I certainly recommend it to all sufferers of rheumatism."

Many Lowell people are daily adding their names to those who have been benefited by Weldon, and the Weldon man, is meeting the public at Dows' Drug Store, Merrimack Square, every hour of the day explaining about the medicine and giving out the book which has had such a demand, "Germs of Rheumatism—How They Live—and How They Die." This book is free as long as the supply lasts. The Weldon man says get yours now, today.

Big "Change in Organization" Sale

TO THE PEOPLE OF LOWELL AND VICINITY:

We are glad to announce that we have made a change in the management of our store, which we believe will be of great benefit to the buying public.

Our new manager, after twelve years' experience with the largest department store in Boston, comes direct to Lowell with modern Department Store methods which will be put in operation here.

We invite you to follow closely all our future advertising and we believe you will benefit greatly by coming to this store.

THE CHALIFOUX COMPANY.

TO THE BUYING PUBLIC AT LARGE:

I have come to this store with the avowed intention of pursuing the most liberal policy and shall insist on "Satisfaction to the customer to the last degree." I assure you that there will be found at Chalifoux's only dependable merchandise correctly priced.

I have already found in some departments a scarcity of certain lines of merchandise—but in others—I have found an excess quantity, and for that reason we have marked many items below their replacement price and offer them to the public in this sale.

LOUIS E. STUDEY,

LOWELL MAN LOSES HIS AUTO LICENSE

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 5.—As a result of his conviction in the Lawrence court April 12, on a charge of operating an automobile recklessly, the Massachusetts Highway commission has revoked the license under which George Diakos of Lowell has been acting as a chauffeur in this state.

Walter W. Fletcher of Westford in another chauffeur who has come under the ban of the commission, his license having been suspended pending an investigation of the accident in which he was involved April 22, and which resulted in the death of J. Henry Colburn of Littleton. Agents of the commission will investigate all the circumstances of the accident, and after they have reported the commission will decide whether in its judgment the accident occurred without fault on Fletcher's part.

The commission has also forbidden two New Hampshire residents to operate motor vehicles in this state, they having been convicted in the Lowell court on charges of operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Kelsea J. Huntington of Laconia was convicted April 21, while Phyllis E. St. Francis of Nashua was convicted April 22. Neither has had a Massachusetts license, and for that reason the commission's jurisdiction in respect to them is limited to the issuance of orders forbidding them to operate in this state.

SERGEANT MELOY ENTERTAINS WAMESIT LODGE WITH RECITAL OF WAR ADVENTURES

Interesting recitals of war adventures were told at a meeting of Wamesit lodge, 23, K. of P., on Friday night by Sergeant William H. Melroy of the 14th Engineers, 1st C. B. Livingston and Sergeant Alden Harris. The three soldiers were presented Pythian war medals by Chancellor Commander A. S. Goldman, who spoke of the fine war records of all members of the Knights of Pythias. The meeting was one of the largest and most interesting in the history of the lodge. During the business session the third rank degree was worked on three aspirants and five new candidates were elected to membership. The Wamesit orchestra furnished music and there were pleasing songs by John Mohr. Refreshments were served. The lodge voted to subscribe for $100 of Victory loan bonds, which makes a total of $500 invested in Liberty bonds to date.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the whole family is there to read it. The Sun fills this field in Lowell.

CHARTERS FOR NEW LOWELL COMPANIES

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 5.—The Norman Weisberg company of Lowell has been granted articles of incorporation by the secretary of state. The corporation, which will deal in food products, has a capitalization of $50,000, divided into 500 shares of common, each with a par value of $100. The incorporators are Harold E. Stanwood of Needham, Norman Weisberg of Lowell and Asa S. Allen of Belmont, Stanwood being president, Weisberg treasurer and Allen clerk. Stanwood and Weisberg have each subscribed to 100 shares of the stock of the corporation. No part of the capital stock is now to be issued.

F. D. Munn & Son, incorporated, was also given a charter. The purpose for which the corporation is formed is to deal in general groceries and provisions. The capital stock is placed at $12,000, divided into 120 shares of common, each with a par value of $100. The incorporators are Francis D. Munn, who is to be president, Frederick S. Harvey, treasurer and John J. Harvey clerk. Each has subscribed and paid for one share of stock. That is the amount now to be issued.

ENTERTAINED AT Y.M.C.A.

The usual large number of soldiers were housed and entertained at the Y.M.C.A. over the week-end. The number of beds occupied on Saturday night being more than 100. An informal entertainment was given for the men Sunday afternoon, which included singing by a quartet composed of Miss Nannie Tucker, soprano; Miss Rosetta Weir, contralto; A. Waterman, tenor, and Mr. Thompson, bass. Violin selections were played by Walter Murphy, and Rev. J. E. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Ice cream and cake were served in the association lobby by Mrs. Young and Miss E. F. Fairbanks.

CONCERT AT SACRED HEART CHURCH

Splendidly successful and generously attended was the sacred concert given last evening at the Sacred Heart church by the choir of that church, assisted by singers from other parishes of the city. A carefully chosen program served to demonstrate the ability of the singers and their efficient director, John J. Kelly, as well as the qualities of the church organ which has recently been equipped with a modern three horn power blower by William B. Goodwin of this city. Constant use has given the organ a pleasingly mellow tone and the addition of new equipment has made it one of the finest in the city.

The details of the evening's program have been given to the public previously and it will suffice to say that each and all of the soloists were at their best, no matter how difficult the number chosen for them. Miss May E. Burke in company with Timothy Finnegan again proved herself one of the city's really gifted sopranos in Lavelle's dramatic "Praise and Honor to the Lord Everlasting." The other soloists included Miss Frances Tighe, Miss Katherine Sharkey, Miss Elizabeth Finnegan, John McMahon, George Kirtwin, Miss Blanche Walsh, James King, Miss Harriet Moran, William Cookin and Andrew A. McCarthy. Each did excellent work and Mr. Kelly in solo and accompaniment pieces once more proved himself a past master of the organ. The choir was full-led and was admirably controlled by Mr.

Farmers Favor League of Nations

NEW YORK, May 5.—An overwhelming majority of the 12 million farmers of America favors the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations, according to an announcement today by the League to Enforce Peace.

Resolutions have been adopted by 193 organizations and 55 leaders are mobilizing the farmers of the country for a drive on the senate when the covenant is presented for ratification.

Kelly's direction. Following the concert, benediction of the blessed sacrament was held with Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I., as celebrant; Rev. James McDermott, O.M.I., deacon, and Rev. James J. Gallagher, O.M.I., sub-deacon.
John Kivian, William Howard and Eugene Mullen were the ushers.

LOWELL GENERAL HOSPITAL

The annual meeting of the Corporation of the Lowell General Hospital will be held in the 14th Engineers' Room of the Union National Bank, Lowell, Mass., on Tuesday, the thirteenth day of May, A. D. 1919, at four o'clock in the afternoon, to transact such business as may legally come before said meeting.

Sentenced For Everett Holdup

CAMBRIDGE, May 5.—Sentences were imposed today on five of the nine men alleged to have been concerned in the robbery of Frank R. Brown, assistant paymaster of the General Electric Co., foundry at Everett, who was held up and shot by automobile bandits on Dec. 20, and relieved of the weekly payroll amounting to nearly $13,000. All had pleaded guilty.

Louis (Poco) Bennett, who is alleged to have arranged the robbery as part of a conspiracy to assist Charles S. Whittemore, an aged employee of the company, to retrieve gambling losses, was given two and one-half years in the House of Correction for conspiracy. Harry Gavin, a youth, was sent to the Concord Reformatory for five years and Alfred Hirsch and John Mulhall, both of New York, were sentenced to from 10 to 12 years in the state prison. The heaviest sentence, 11 to 15 years, was imposed on Samuel Stirrati, who, according to the district attorney, was the man who shot Brown, severely wounding him.

Brutal Murder of Young Woman

BARRE, Vt., May 5.—The body of Mrs. Harry E. Broadwell, 29 years old and the mother of three children, was found in a garden off North Main street, early yesterday with the throat bound tightly with a man's handkerchief and the hands, still in kid gloves, bound tightly at the back. Death was by strangulation, according to the police, whose theory is that the woman was murdered in a nearby building and the body dragged to the garden before daybreak.

Beside the body was found the woman's watch and hat, and 21 feet away her open pocketbook which was empty. Close by were found all the articles of clothing except the shoes and stockings which were on the body.

When the clothing was picked up several buttons dropped off, indicating, according to the police, that it had been forcibly removed. Dr. H. B. Stone of the state laboratory of hygiene performed an autopsy but did not make public his report.

Czecho-Slovak War Minister Killed

COPENHAGEN, May 5.—General Milan Stefanik, Czecho-Slovak minister of war, was killed near Wajnor, Hungary, Sunday, when the airplane in which he was traveling crashed to the ground, a despatch from Pressburg says. Two Italian officers, who were with him also, were killed.

Bombs Made in This Country

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Experts of the bureau of mines, analyzing the bombs used in the attempted May day outrages, have proceeded far enough to convince them that the gelatine dynamite used was of American manufacture. It is expected that the firm producing the explosive can be identified from the chemical formula and the perpetrator, perhaps traced in that way.

Thin, Irritable Child

Gained Flesh, Strength and Good Nature by Taking Vinol

Middletown, Conn.—"I used Vinol for my little girl 5 years old for a random, nervous condition. She was thin, irritable all the time and had no appetite. In a week I noticed an improvement and now she has a good appetite, has gained in flesh and strength and is much pleasanter to live with."—Mrs. C. R. Wilkinson.

There is no secret about Vinol. It is made of its own kind, from beef and cod liver, peaches, iron and manganese, peptonates and glycophosphates, the object and most famous blood-building tonic known.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 5.—Firmness marked the opening today but there were few traces of the extraordinary activity of the past fortnight. Tobacco stocks were again prominent, with American Tobacco rising two points and Lorillard 1. Gains of 1 to 2 points were made by Royal Dutch, Texas Co., Harvester, United States Steel, American Paper, International Paper and Atlantic Gulf, the latter rising to the new record of 15 1/2. St. Louis and San Francisco of feature the rails at a three-point advance.

Tomorrow's holiday for the 7th Division parade probably accounted for the intermittent trading and consequent irregularity of prices during the forenoon. Dealings expanded after the first half hour, but the sluggishness of U. S. Steel and 1 to 2 point reactions in several of last week's favorite issues were more than balanced by the strength elsewhere. Canadian Pacific rose two points and other standard falls 1 to 1 1/2.

U. S. Steel rallied over a point at midday. Allied issues closed at 22 1/2. Northern Ore, Colorado Fuel, Pennsylvania, Seaboard Steel and Central Railway gained 1 to 2 points. Investment funds made additional gains under lead of facilities and coals. Shipbuilding and equipments were substantially advanced.

Oils, leather and shippings at further gains contributed to the active final hour. The closing was strong.

Some Interesting Facts Concerning the Circulation of Books in General

"How is business up at the public library?"

If some would-be joker asks this question it can easily be shown that he is joking on the wrong subject for the answer to the question of how business is at Lowell's public library may make rather interesting reading.

The most important thing about the average newspaper is said to be its circulation and the same to a large extent, holds true in regard to the library. If its books didn't have circulation the shutters would have to be drawn and the bookshelves start home jobless.

Librarian Frederick A. Chase upon being asked as to how many books the municipal library lost a year by reason of theft replied, "Surprisingly few. We of course know the exact number but we don't believe it is worth while making it public. The number is small enough so that it offers proof that library people should continue to have faith in the inherent honesty of most of the people who come to the library to read or take out library books."

"We think at this library that usefulness of the institution is facilitated by the fact that we have the open shelf system of maintaining our service which means in effect, that persons not in search of some one particular book, but anxious to get some good book to go to the open shelves, make a selection and bring the book to the recording desk, to be charged. On account of this fact being true here we regard it as all the more surprising that the number of books stolen is so insignificantly small."

Unretained Books

Mr. Chase was asked if he could enumerate a number of books for which there seemed to be no demand and which were seldom if ever called for. He answered this by saying:

"I suppose if we took pains we could check up the exact number and the names of these dormant books but we have never done it because there are so few of them. It should be recognized that each generation seems to have biographies it wants the most and that it will insist upon having. The older place in history a man gets the more it seems to work out that there will be less of a demand for his biography."

"We know for a fact that in this library for instance there are probably biographies of men long dead and well forgotten, for which there may not be a demand from one year's end to another. The call for them may be rare and only once in a long time. Similarly in the case of scientific books librarians have to recognize that previously new and reliable scientific matter is subject to constant change due to the constant amount of new scientific matter being made public. Thus it can be possible that scientific books of 25 years age, dependable at that time, have no particular value this year because so much of new scientific discovery has superseded the matter of which they treated."

"I remember some time ago," said Mr. Chase to The Sun, "that this very same question came up for discussion at a convention of librarians in Boston and it was questioned whether such books should be burned or should

Rumanian and Allied Forces
Cheered—City of Arad
Taken by Rumanians

GENEVA, Saturday, May 3.—Rumanian forces have entered the city of Arad, 145 miles southeast of Budapest, and have occupied the (Zap bridge) head on the Theiss river, north of Arad, according to advices received here from Bucharest and Hermannstadt. Everywhere the Rumanian and allied forces are being welcomed as liberators, it is said.

The Rumanians are advancing along the whole Hungarian front and have captured 2000 prisoners, including many Austrian and German soldiers. One hundred and fifty carloads of war materials have also been taken. Colonel Kratochwill is commanding the forces fighting against the Hungarian Bolsheviks and Magyars, it is reported.

RUSSIAN BARK
TOWED TO BOSTON

SCITUATE, May 3.—The Russian bark, Professor Koch, ashore in the harbor here since Wednesday, was pulled from the sands by tugs and towed to Boston today. Divers had made temporary repairs so that she was floated with the portion of her cargo of wool and hides which had not been removed by lighters.

The Koch struck on ledges off here late Tuesday night, while on her way to Boston from East London, South Africa. When pulled off by tugs, she struck on the bottom of the harbor.

PARIS, Saturday, May 3.—Only three of the hostages executed at Munich by the communists before they were overpowered could be recognized. One of them was Prince Albert of Thurn and Taxis. Among the bodies which were unrecognizable were three that had been decapitated. They are believed to be those of the Countess Westarp, Councillor Dallmann, who had been known as one of Munich's benefactors, and Prof. Franz von Stuck.

CHARITY BALL AT
ASSOCIATE HALL

All Lowell is expected to participate in the big charity ball to be held at Associate hall Wednesday evening under the auspices of the local council of the Knights of Columbus and at a meeting of the committee in charge of arrangements held yesterday afternoon final details for the affair were perfected. The presence of Gov. Calvin Coolidge is assured and many of the state's leading military men are also expected.

The proceeds of the affair will go entirely to local charities and the beneficiaries are to be St. John's hospital, St. Peter's orphanage, the French-American orphanage and the Knights of Columbus guild. These are all public institutions and for this reason their support should be public wide.

A committee consisting of 1000 members of Lowell council has been organized to conduct the ball and no effort has been spared to insure a social and financial success. Peter F. Gill, the floor director, has worked unceasingly to arrange a most artistic affair and the various other officers promise a most enjoyable evening.

BE ON YOUR GUARD!

There are certain articles found on every merchant's shelves called "cheap" or "cheapish." They are hard to sell. No one knows about them. A small notice is placed on one day at the store, showing the samples, and what a big advertising campaign was being started—and succeeded in selling a lot of goods.

Well, the advertising campaign never started, or if it started, it ended so soon. But the bill of goods came and was distributed upon the shelves. There they stay. It takes advertising to move them. The manufacturer didn't do his duty. His duty was to back up his sales organization with an advertising campaign. He'll not be able to bring the same customer twice with that kind of campaign.

Don't let yourself be a kind of a customer. Don't let the bossy, self-willed salesman "grab" you, Mr. Merchant. If he says his company is going to start a big newspaper campaign to help to sell the goods, tell him you will place an order when you see the newspaper campaign in progress. Tell him to prove his case in Lowell by having his company advertise its products where you can see it and your customers will see it. Tell him in this city it means doing business with

Lowell's Greatest Newspaper

AS TO UNIONS

The income and leisure of the people determine a nation's civilization. Burying this fact in phrases, denouncing it as materialistic, narrow and selfish does not alter it. We may sing of the blessings of poverty, the joy of love in a cottage, the discipline of economy and application, but when we have offered homage to education, culture, contentment and the whole pantheon of virtues of the simple life, we find these gods all have feet in the clay of common needs. It is still true that the worst enemy of the poor is their poverty.

High wages and ample leisure remain the foundation of any social ideal and most of the domestic virtues, and will continue to be so until labor becomes leisure and work constructive play—something less fantastic than the worlds seem to convey.

Along with low wages and long hours come drunkenness and crime, high death rate and stupefying ignorance, riots and social disorder. Life lengthens with income and broadens with hours of well employed leisure. The cigar-makers' union doubled its members' lives in 20 years by raising wages and shortening hours.

Infant death rates give a ghastly answer to this picture. The children's bureau of the federal government found that where the family income averaged less than $450 annually, 165 of every 1000 babies born die in the first year. If the income is between $450 and $540, only 135 perish in the first twelve months. When the income reaches $1250, still less than a death wage, only 65 die.

A "living wage" is not a figure of speech. The difference between it and a "dying wage" is written in the mortality tables.

Low wages cause and aggravate sickness. Sickness adds to poverty. So the vicious, deadly circle draws in upon the worker.

High wages are the greatest enemy of illiteracy. It is not alone that they lift the burden of labor from the child and send it to school. Night schools for adults fail everywhere to reach the low paid long time workers—who are mostly illiterate. An eight-hour day and a living wage send more men to night schools than all the floods of posters, leaflets and preaching devoted to urging attendance upon overworked and underpaid illiterates.

Hoisting education, healthful amusement, "general culture" of all kinds rest on the same hard material basis. In the world's civilization those nations lead whose people receive the largest income and the greatest leisure for growth.

The most powerful agency to this end, and therefore to the furtherance of civilization, is not the propaganda, polemical, mob-mob, nor revolutions, but the voice, conservative, much movement that stands for justice and drives out socialism, anarchy and the other elements that try to pass off as legitimate unions.

BRITISH TAXATION

The British policy of taxation seems to be radically different in principle from that at present in force in the United States. Early in the war, England saw that the heavy taxes would put many industries out of existence. To avoid that danger, the government actually created many important industries whose activities could afford liberal returns to the government not only from taxes, but from profits. In this way, England managed a minimum amount of financial pressure upon the people. Now that the war is over, the same policy seems to lighten the work of reconstruction. Instead of piling on the bills in the shape of taxes, the government has adopted a very liberal policy so that most of the commodities that are most heavily "salted" in the United States get off lightly in England. The revenue producing industries are encouraged, contentment and the whole pantheon of virtues of the simple life, we find these gods all have feet in the clay of common needs. It is still true that the worst enemy of the poor is their poverty.

In the matter of reconstruction and wise policies for overcoming the effects of the war, this country might learn considerable from British methods. Just at present, the heavy taxes in this country come at a time when the people and the industries are but poorly prepared to meet them. It is hoped, however, that the early return of prosperity will change the situation and so increase the ability of the people to pay that the taxes will be less burdensome.

RESPECT FOR LAW

In the present disturbed state of the country, it behooves our people in general to abide by the provisions of the law and thereby show due respect for the authority which they wish to see upheld.

When the I.W.W. or some kindred assembly of marauders appear in parade carrying the red flag, with the Stars and Stripes nowhere to be seen, there is a great temptation, especially to soldiers and sailors who so recently risked their lives in defense of the flag, to adopt summary methods in order to stop the demonstration.

Instead of taking the law into their own hands, they had better notify the police who have authority to act. The offenders will then be properly dealt with according to law, and riots and mob violence will be avoided. An offense against the law from patriotic motives is almost as regrettable as that of the people who flout the red flag. The law is no respecter of persons and the mob can never usurp the functions of the court of justice.

Soldiers and sailors, therefore, must be urged to restrain their indignation when they see the red flag flaunted in public procession. Better wait until the police arrive and thus give an example of the respect for the law that they would impress upon others.

CARSON SAYS "NO"

The Irish-American delegation sent from this country to plead the cause of Ireland before the peace congress, has been disappointed in the main object of their journey. They wished to plead with President Wilson that he should bring the case of Ireland before the congress for settlement; but this he declined to do on the ground that it is a domestic question coming under the jurisdiction of England alone. It was then expected that the delegation would receive a hearing from Premier Lloyd George, but Sir Edward Carson ruled a protest and, as usual, the prime minister bowed in mock acquiescence.

This is another proof that Mr. Carson has but to express the wish in Irish affairs and the government will promptly comply. This means that while the present government endures and while Carson lives, there is no hope for a settlement of the Irish question through voluntary action on the part of England.

CHARLIE KAPLAN

Charlie Kaplan is known to the people of the nation, but Charlie

Kaplan, a postal clerk in New York, has won national reputation for his presence of mind and his tact in preventing a package of 16 internal machines from being sent to a number of prominent men in different parts of the country. Kaplan was on his way home in the early hours of the morning, when he got hold of the first edition of a morning paper and saw that a bomb had been received through the mail, at the home of Senator Hardwick of Georgia. He at once recalled the fact that he had handled 16 packages of a suspicious character held for lack of sufficient postage. He promptly gave his way to the office and arrived in time to prevent the internal machines being sent on their way to the persons selected for slaughter. Kaplan surely deserves a Burleson cross-de bomb, if not a congressional medal.

SECRETARY DANIELS

Secretary Daniels has been fêted by the most lavish style in London. He has even dined with the king. It is understood that Mr. Daniels went over to England to ascertain her naval policies and to learn perhaps some of her naval secrets. He has been highly honored by various distinguished bodies in London; but we venture to say that he has learned very little of the secrets or even of the policies of the British admiralty. On the other hand, however, it is highly probable that Mr. Daniels has been humped dry of all the secrets and policies of the naval department, of which he is the head.

COALITION DOOMED

Reports from England indicate that sentiment is turning against the coalition ministry. Out of four by-elections, three have gone against the ministry in constituencies that in the last election gave substantial majorities for the government. This indicates a tendency to go back to the partisan government under which the opposing elements will be liberal and Tory or Unionist. No change is likely, however, for some time after the conclusion of peace; but as soon as things begin to reach a normal condition, the coalition regime will be dissolved after which the parties will revert back to the old lines.

DEMobilIZATION

It is announced that the American army will be returned at the rate of 450,000 a month, just as soon as the peace treaty shall have been signed. At that rate, the entire army will be home by autumn and thus completely demobilized. That would probably bring about a revocation of the law under which prohibition is to go into effect July 1st. It is understood that President Wilson has discretionary powers in the premises and what he may do after his return is problematical.

It is rather a strange occurrence that there should be 2000 families evicted on May day in New York, and that the families thus driven out are left utterly homeless. It is a very serious situation resulting from the scarcity of houses, due no doubt to the lack of building during the past few years. These evicted families cannot be left to starve or to be exposed to the weather. The city must provide for them and it should have prevented arbitrary evictions until the families involved had found suitable habitations to which they could move with reasonable assurance of safety if not of ordinary comfort.

A North Carolina judge stepped in and said the federal tax on child-made products is unconstitutional. He said its application invaded the rights of a state. He evidently does not recognize that legislation had to be used to make certain parts of the south decent, and this is one of the pieces of legislation. Let this judge jealously guard or try to guard what he conceives to be his state's rights, while children degenerate into little working animals in the cotton mills of that state. That judge should remember that slavery has been abolished and is never to be revived in any form in any state of this union.

It is not to be wondered at that the German peace delegates snarled around as quickly as they could to procure fine French soap at Versailles so as to indulge in the, to them, luxury of personal cleanliness. French soap may indeed render their bodies clean once more, but we may conclude if some ingenious French inventor could devise some saponaceous substance warranted to cleanse the soul of a man, he would throw up his hands at the idea of his invention being applied to the average German.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dizziness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

There was one thing in connection with the parade of the Coast Artillery battery in Friday's Victory Loan celebration which sort of stuck out like a sore thumb—an utter lack of cheering or applause of any kind as the overseas battlers marched through the city streets. The clever-performing tractor as it "shimmied" from sidewalk to sidewalk drew the laughs, but the dusty, valor decorated soldiers drew straight glances, and nothing more. Perhaps the enthusiasm and approval was of the silent kind—too deep for mere words—but that doesn't seem good reasoning, for there was nothing about the parade to tip the scales in favor of showing tears, but rather the splendid appearance of the outfit should have brought out spontaneous and prolonged applause. Have we become so prosaic in these days of reconstruction, now that we have most of our own boys back with us, to forget the lads who lie beneath the poppies on the Marne and in the Argonne, once comrades perhaps, of the very soldiers who now occasionally parade our streets? We fervently hope not. In almost every instance civilians uncovered as the flag went by, but the boys who fought for it, trudged along between lanes of a silent populace.

One of the by-products of the appearance of the C.A.C. outfit in Lowell Friday was the liberal distribution of all sorts of literature, bearing directly or indirectly upon the Victory Loan, and among which was the Victory Loan number of "Liaison," the official courier of the coast artillery branch of the service, or, as they like to call themselves, "the big gun corps." It is filled with illustrations, many of them pictures of the havoc wrought behind the German lines by well placed American shells fired from U.S. Coast Artillery corps guns, and with Yankee soldiers at the long range. The magazine also contains the complete personnel of this touring battery, whence it was recruited and brief histories and war records of some of its most illustrious officers and men. Its principal story, however, is an account of the work done during the St. Mihiel offensive by one 310 millimeter, 11-inch French rifle, railroad mounted, manned by Battery G of the 53d Artillery, U.S. Coast Artillery Corps, Major John M. Messer commanding. Confians with its immense railway yards, and enormous round house capable of holding any number of locomotives and trains, was the main German base of supplies and operations in the St. Mihiel sector. Hence it was very important that this base should be destroyed. Battery G was assigned this task and from 2:14 a. m. Sept. 12, 1918, to 5 p. m. Sept. 16, put a destructive, harassing and continuous barrage on Confians, sending over one hundred and one 11-inch projectiles. The first shot was a direct hit in the yards, and the third landed squarely in the round house.

May we not throw another stick into the well oiled machinery of the street department and respectfully pray that some, in fact much, consideration be given to the many complaints of people in the Highlands section regarding that stretch of terrible road on Westford street between Loring and Wilder streets? Having well in mind the many calls for help which daily reach the street commissioner's ears, the most staggering task he has before him and his fleet of reservoir of funds, we will put our car for one more tug. The street in question does not attract very much heavy traffic of the truck sort, but it does get a lot of automobile business, and it has become so uncomfortable of late as to make folks take to the dirt roadway in Pine street rather than to run a chance of breaking springs and other automobile parts. Middlesex street above Coral, with its gentle cobble stones, is just as bad, but with this short portion of Westford street paved a fine artery of travel would be made leaving the city to the northward. Broadway must come first, and we suppose other streets demand just as much attention as does Westford, but being a resident of that section, we feel called upon to deliver this blast.

The item in this col. printed Friday telling of the depredations to lawns and terraces in the city and the suggestion that the acts of children in this respect ought to be strictly checked, has met with verbal approval of one of our readers, who suggests that the item did not go as far as it might have in this direction. He calls attention to the damage done by the milkmen and paper boys in the morning, and afternoon as well, who persist in trying to get through their work quickly by cutting across lawns with no regard for shrubbery, flower beds or fences. Even signs marked "Keep off" are disregarded.

It is a very old problem and one that has often annoyed a great many people. One of the best suggestions we could make in regard to this—and it may not be at all efficient—is not to do business with a paper boy or a milkman even doing his work in this lawless kind of a way. A man or a boy who will not respect the rights of his customers or their property has gotten a wrong start, and it may be an effective way to bring him to a sense of duty by touching his pocketbook.

SEEN AND HEARD

Say, Mister, excuse us for not knowing your last name, but please lay off that tax stuff.

We suppose this daylight "sawing" stuff is all right, but we would enjoy it more if we weren't so darn sleepy when 6 a. m. rolls 'round.

We rise to inquire how the rumble bounds like the one-cent tax? Already petitions are in circulation protesting against what is termed "a most annoying law."

Did you ever think this way about a fellow? That if he were a passenger on the same ship with you and he fell overboard you would rather throw him an anchor than a life preserver?

A St. Louis street car conductor returned $1200 he had collected in nickels and neglected to register. Now will some street car company return a few of the nickels it has collected from straphangers for seats.

A Bear With the Ladies

You have heard tell about a fellow who "is a divel with the ladies," well, here must be one. "To you, dear heart, the dearest man in all the world, Oceanus of level 1 and all wild to be with you, I'd gladly give you time to breathe. Yes, I'd gladly love, you are a prince of sweethearts. I'll have to admit that. I want you and you only so I can give every bit of my love to you dear and only sweetheart."—A letter from "Blue Eyes to a Chicago man, whose wife offered it in evidence at their divorce court proceedings.

For Men Only

Promptly at noon a dainty young woman stepped into the front window of a downtown department store in Oakland, Cal., and began to demonstrate a new device to hold up women's stockings. Several things happened immediately thereafter.

Fifty men packed the sidewalks in front of the window.

A horse dragged a delivery wagon into an automobile trying to get a view.

Automobiles halted, street cars stopped, and a call for a policeman was sent in. A policeman was finally found with his nose pressed against the window.

Not a woman saw the demonstration.

That Tax Question

Sparking of the taxes which went into effect in Lowell and throughout the country yesterday, many people think that the tax on women's hats is a tax on women. All wrong. It is really levied on the woman's husband, who pays this as well as other taxes. The "old man" is cornered and can't of escape any way he tries. There is a tax on carpets and rugs too. Carpets and rugs in excess of $5 per square yard are taxed whether the rugs are square or not. A round rug can't get around the tax. Trunks are taxed if they exceed $5 in value. A lot of trunks exceed this in value when loaded after the first day of July, A.D. (All out of Drunk.) Toilet cases valued at over $25 are taxed also. It can be seen thus far that nothing has been done to hurt the feelings of the Bolsheviks. Purse worth more than $7.50 are also subject to the new levy. This tax does not hit many people as most of the population do not need this kind of clothing any more, and those that do carry purses couldn't get $7.50 for them loaded as a rule. Umbrellas, parasols and sunshades in excess of $4 will have to "get it up." However there is a loophole here as the law does not forbid people to stand in a doorway until the rain stops. Shoes are taxed in excess of $10 a pair unless your feet are deformed. If you can prove that your feet are deformed you can pay all you want for shoes. A plain flat wheel or an ingrown toe nail are not exempt under this ruling. By deformed feet here is meant a serious trouble such as would prohibit you from getting in the army. Men's silk hose over $1 a pair and women's over $2 are taxable. This might seem at first blush like discrimination, but when you realize that men's hose are only ankle deep as a rule, you can see that no favoritism is being shown. Khaki hose worth over $15 per each, or however they come, are subject to an extra contribution. This tax does not hit the coal heavies or the firemen except very lightly. There are also soft drink taxes but when and how and by whom they are collected is a difficult matter to explain in one newspaper. Consumers will best learn the operation of this tax by buying the drinks. The clerks will have the thing all down line and they will explain it.

The Garden

Two rows of early beans are up. My potatoes are growing. Their delicate and dainty green. The lettuce leaves are showing. We've had some dandelions greens. The rhubarb stalks are sprouting. I'm thinking now of planting beans. All thoughts of freshie bonfire.

I have some corn in paper pots. All ready for transplanting. Some dandelion blossoms which is ready for decanting. In short, the garden is started well. To grow big crops this summer. And, like it from your Uncle John. It's coming to be a humor.

325,000 IN GERMAN FINNISH RED GUARDS ARMY ON MAY 1

COBLENZ, Friday, May 2. (By the Associated Press).—On May 1, which officially marked the end of the demobilization of the old German army, and the functioning of the new army, Germany had 325,000 men of various classes under arms, according to estimates by American intelligence officers.

LONDON, May 2.—Finnish Red Guards are now masters of the situation at Petrograd, according to a despatch from Copenhagen to the Mail. They have arrested members of the Danish Red Cross, and it is reported they intend to march against the Finnish White Guards.

BETTER CONDITIONS FOR SHIPWORKERS

BOSTON, May 5.—Plans for the improvement of conditions for shipworkers were discussed at the opening session of the first convention of the Atlantic Coast, Gulf and Great Lakes Metal Trades' Federation here today. Two hundred delegates were present, representing 42 shipbuilding crafts. President H. L. Murray of Philadelphia, in discussing the aims of the federation, said that congress should take steps to protect the shipbuilding industry. He asserted that inasmuch as Americans had proven themselves the best shipbuilders, American capital should support American maritime enterprise. The convention will remain in session through Wednesday.

RIVET AND REED BOX
HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

George Rivet, the Canadian welter-weight champion and Pal Reed, of Minneapolis, have notified Matchmaker Mahan that they are in perfect condition for their bout at the Triangle A. C. meeting at the Playhouse tomorrow night. Rivet has been training here and those who saw him workout aver that he is going like a champion and should have little trouble in beating Reed. The westerner, however, isn't worrying over the bout with the Canadian title holder and he feels that after tomorrow the crown will rest on his "dome." The boys are scheduled to go 12 rounds to a decision. Young Arvilla and Young Searney, both local boys, who will appear in the semi-final tomorrow night, report that they are in the "pink" and ready for a lively battle. Both are hard hitters and very aggressive, and their number should furnish considerable excitement for the members. The preliminary bout between Dinky Walsh and Johnny Martin, a "repeat" after their whirlwind exhibition of last week, promises to be a hummer. In their last meeting Walsh sent Walsh to the floor in the first round, but this little thing did not bother Dinky, for he came back and won by a good margin. Kid Stone and Lawrence and Young Pisco will clash in the other six rounder.

SENATORS WIN

Athletics Had 17 Men Left on Bases Sunday

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Washington made it three straight from Philadelphia by winning yesterday, 12 to 6. Thirty-four hits were made by the two teams and the visitors had 17 men left on bases. Washington used three pitchers and Philadelphia two. Score: Washington 0 0 5 1 1 1 1—12 16 3. Philadelphia 0 0 0 2 0 0 1—6 18 1. Batteries: Johnson, Hoylick, Cratt and Arnew; Kinney, Naylor and McAvoy.

CLEVELAND 5, DETROIT 4. CLEVELAND, May 5.—Cleveland evened up the series yesterday by beating Detroit 5 to 4. Detroit tied up the score with two out in the ninth inning. Cleveland's double and Blanton's single in Cleveland's half with two out, Chapman doubled, Speaker was passed purposely and Smith doubled, scoring Chapman. The score: Cleveland 1 0 1 0 2 0 0 1—5 10 1. Detroit 0 0 0 2 0 0 1 0—4 7 2. Batteries: Coveleskie and O'Neill; Ebner and Stange.

CHICAGO 4, ST. LOUIS 2. CHICAGO, May 5.—Chicago won from St. Louis yesterday, 4 to 2, play being stopped by rain in the last half of the fifth inning. Chicago bunched four hits with three errors for four runs, driving Sathorn from the rubber. Cleveland hit St. Louis hitless for four innings but in the fifth the Browns turned three hits into two runs. The score: Chicago 0 0 0 4 0 0—4 5 0. St. Louis 0 0 0 0 0 0—2 3 2. Batteries: Ciolette and Schalk; Sathorn, Lowdermilk and Severed.

ward Prince Hal Chase and use a magnifying glass to find the latter's batting average. It does not even amount to .150. Of course, things may change about before the season ends, but it gives food for thought just now.

At the New York opening against the Phillies the other day the first player parade on the field was a feature. It was notable inasmuch as at least three of the boys were in step. Not much like the "feet" drilled St. Louis crowd, but they finished themselves out of the league.

GIBBONS VS. O'DOWD
A POSSIBILITY

It is rumored that the next big fight projected for Newark, N. J., will be between Billy Miske and Willie Ritchie, with a Kilbane-Vaigar or Lynch bout and a Leonard-Britton scrap also in line for looking. Every good thing seems to come from over the Jersey side. These boys may look like financial and loving propositions, but for a real attraction we would like to see ourselves down at the racetrack and watch Mike Gibbons the rascal and O'Dowd go to it. These two would surely surcharge the atmosphere with action. O'Dowd will soon be back from the other side. Gibbons is going great guns and made a show of Soldier Barrfield on the coast the other night. O'Dowd's boxing was one of the features of the later-called carnival in London, in which he went out of his class to win the light-heavyweight championship. He is reported to be looking for a real fight and Gibbons would be just the man to give it to him. In a long battle Gibbons might beat O'Dowd, but in a quick piece and "Mikes" would put on a round that would keep the house in an uproar. Gibbons is undoubtedly the cleverest middleweight in the business and O'Dowd, the most willing fighter of them all.

Willie Ritchie has decided to retire, probably he realizes the soft ones have given him his last benefit. He showed, however, that he was as good as they make 'em in his bout with Leonard, for he took more than three ordinary men could stand up under.

Young Jack Johnson, who has made such a good impression in Boston of late, is out with a defy to all of the middleweights, including George Robinson, Tommy Robson, McGraw, Wilson, Joe Rivers, or any who care to box him.

Freddie Madden and Phil Christin have been matched for the semi-final to the Frankie Britt-Denny Vaigar contest in Boston on May 13.

With Chick West of Holyoke and Walter Butler of Revere, each claiming the welter title of New England, it might be good business for some club to sign them up and get the issue settled. With George Alger, Terry Brooks, Bill Carver, Sam Bell and a score of other welterers hanging around, a pretty good round-robin could be staged.

Willard has begun to train for his fight with Dempsey on July 4 by doing a little road work. Pretty good plan for the studies of the champion's excessive weight are true.

The big hitch that seems to be in the Willard-Dempsey bout for Cumberland, Maryland, is whether Tex Rickard can show Governor Herring the difference between a boxing match and a prize fight. If there is any difference, we have yet to discover it.

BUNTINGS TO GO
AFTER JOIE RAY

The Bunting club members met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing plans for an outdoor track and field meet to be held at Bunting park May 31, and the campaigner announced its intention of going after Joie Ray of Chicago, the sensation of the indoor track season in the east and middle west, and who now stands at the head of the country's middle distance runners. Knowing that it is Ray's ambition to become a professional pitcher, the Bunting club is going to make every effort to get the little Chicagoan to come here to compete, and possibly make an attempt to lower the middle distance record. The conditions would be as follows: (a) Ideal, track, wind and pace, but the Bunting club feels that its track is one of the best in the land, and should appeal to the fast runners.

Before the club the club a number of successful meets and brought many stars to the city to compete, and the members feel it is high time the organization planned on a similar scale. If the Buntings succeed in luring Ray, it will be a big feather in their cap as practically every athlete in the east will be at their services this summer.

BOOTS THIS WEEK
Bouts scheduled this week in the realm of athletic sports, include the following: Tonight—Jack Britton vs. Johnny Griffiths, Buffalo; Benny Vaigar vs. Artie Root, Cleveland; Phil Logan vs. Ed Lashina, Pittsburgh; Mike Kearns vs. Kid Lee, Johnstown; Ed Lashina vs. Steve Latzo, Philadelphia; Mel Coogan vs. Kid Carter, Jersey City; Barney Blair vs. Solly Burns, Des Moines; Tommy Tucker vs. Dave Medar, Harrison, N. The W. H. Bagshaw Co. baseball team ran away from the Middlesex on the South common Saturday when they moved them over, 25 to 5.

The Y.M.C.A. lost to the Tewksbury State Infirmary team Saturday, 14 to 3. Scott, winning pitcher, had a dozen strikeouts.

The universals trounced the Marion A. C. Saturday afternoon, 22 to 5. Trounced in right a riot, well says Chase, a cousin of the universals, "I hammered out two home runs and his team-mates were close behind him. Last week the Universals will attempt to play horse with the Erie A. C."

The F.A.S.C. defeated the Matthews Saturday on the Allen street ground, 11 to 1. The winners would like a game with the B. & M. car shops or Sacred Hearts for May 10. See Manager J. Palmer, 23 Kirk street.

The Sacred Hearts would like to hear from any of the amateur teams in the city. The F.A.S.C. or Root Mills preference. The universals would like to play through the paper or by Tel 113-11, between 7 and 8 p.m.

TEXTILE DROPS CLOSE
GAME TO ANDOVER

The Lowell Textile school baseball team lost a well played game to Phillips Andover at Andover Saturday, 3 to 1. The academy team scored in the first and second innings. Andover's first pitcher, held them safe thereafter, allowing but four hits during the entire game. A triple during the opening session drove in a pair of runs. Textile reached Wright, the Andover pitcher, for six hits, but never bunched them sufficiently for a victory. The score: Andover 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—3 4 5. Textile 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 1—1 2 6. Batteries: Wright and Dunn; Noon and Goldman.

MITCHELL KEEPS UP ITS GOOD RECORD

The Mitchell Boys' school team kept up its fine record on Saturday when the Wobosett Athletic club nine of Wobosett was defeated, 12 to 4. Joseph Mitchell, pitcher, had the game under his thumb all the way. The score by innings: Mitchell 2 2 3 1 4 0 0 0—12 9 5. Wobosett 0 0 2 1 0 0 0 0—4 4 6. Batteries: Joseph and Northrop; D. Sullivan and T. Sullivan.

OLD JIM HAS FAVORITES
Branham Picks Eternal or Billy Kelly To Win This Year's Classic

Despite the unpopularity of Kines and the decided scarcity of that article the "Sport of Kings" still flourishes. And that is a mild way of expressing it, too, for the "Sport of Kings" flourishes as it never has flourished before.

I have just come from Churchill Downs, that historic track at Louisville, where on May 10 the 45th annual Kentucky Derby will be run. They are making plans to entertain the greatest crowd that ever gathered at a horse race. At least 50,000 persons are expected. Last year but a million dollars was bet on the race. This year it would not be surprising if the amount was nearly doubled.

And of course, every reader wants to know first thing who is going to win the great classic of 1919. Old Jim Branham, the aged darkey who has seen every race for 47 years and has won many a Derby winner, doesn't know, but he has his favorites. Jim is qualified to pick a winner, but he doesn't talk first for the sake of talking and he isn't quite sure who'll win.

"You see," says Jim, "the Derby race is never won until the horses are run. It looks like Eternal or Billy Kelly, but you never can tell. If I could there would be some up winners trying to see this year's race and betting their good money."

But Jim admits if he has enough money to bet, he'll bet on both of his favorites.

Asked which horses Grainger, president of Churchill Downs, who would win, he said:

"Sir Barton is a stable mate of Billy Kelly and J. K. Ross, the eastern owner, may be playing the game as it has often been played before—pitting two good horses against one and letting the weaker one win."

Following the game played by Colonel Kilmer last year in buying Exterminator to race Sunbird, and then seeing the racemaster win the race, Louisville talks nothing but Derby. Every hotel has been sold out for two months.

They tell me this year's eligibles are the classiest three-year-olds ever entered and there have been some classy runners in the past. Rose Bud, owned by "Ham" Applegate and his father, W. L. Applegate, secretary of the board, holds the track record of 2:05 1-5, made in 1914.

This year's Derby will be the classiest of all. It will be held over the Churchill Downs track at Louisville May 19. There will be 10 or 12 three-year-olds in the race.

Louisville is preparing for the greatest crowd in history. At least 50,000 persons are expected. Between $500,000 and a million dollars will be bet through the pari-mutuel machines. ## AUTO AND MOTOR-CYCLE ACCIDENTS

Burton Cole, a resident of Chelmsford street, is in a serious condition at the Lowell Corporation hospital as a result of an automobile accident, which occurred on the Groton road last evening. Mr. Cole is suffering from a fracture of the left leg, a fracture of the right hip and a probable fracture of the skull. Three other persons, who also figured in the accident, were slightly injured.

Mr. Cole was on his way to Graniteville in the early part of the evening. Just before he reached Graniteville he swerved off the road to avoid an oncoming automobile and crashed into a tree. The driver was thrown heavily and the other occupants were hurled over an embankment. The car was demolished.

The driver of the other car was Manfred McComber of 53 Rogers street who rushed Cole to the hospital.

Another Serious Accident
An automobile owned and operated by Raymond A. Otis of 532 Andover street, struck and seriously injured Mrs. Panemina Rapson of 2 Concord place on the Lawrence road at a point near Kenwood late Saturday night. Mr. Otis removed Mrs. Rapson in his automobile to St. John's hospital where it was found she was suffering from fractures of both arms and bruises about the face, right knee and groin.

Three Persons Injured
John Gumb of 21 Hale street, Sarah

Noble of Lakeview avenue and Thos. Watts of Manchester, N. H., were injured early Saturday evening when an automobile owned by William Tatten, a local grocer, and operated by Paul McKenzie, climbed the sidewalk at Tower's corner, in order to avoid hitting a small boy. Mr. Gumb received a bruise and a fractured rib; Mrs. Noble received a fracture of the right leg, while Mr. Watts received general bruises. The three were removed to St. John's hospital, but this morning it was learned that the men had gone to their homes, while the woman was transferred to another hospital.

Motorcycle Collided
A motorcycle owned and operated by Fred Mellen of Fay's court collided with another motorcycle at the corner of Westford and Howard streets Saturday evening, but fortunately no one was seriously injured. The name of the operator of the other machine could not be learned.

Dedicated to the Women of Lowell

OUR NEWEST AND FINEST PRODUCT

BETSY ROSS BREAD

WHO WAS BETSY ROSS? Most of the people of Lowell know. She was the little Colonial lady, commissioned by Congress, to make the first American flag.

Her eyes were the first that ever beheld Old Glory.

Her spirit was the first ever thrilled by the beauty of the Stars and Stripes and by the thought of what they were to symbolize.

Betsy Ross was typical of resourceful and capable American womanhood—always ready with aid and inspiration in time of stress.

THERE ARE REASONS why we should recall Betsy Ross to mind at this time.

The banner with which her name is forever associated has been carried to a new and great victory.

The principles for which our banner stands are conquering the minds of nations.

And, lastly, American women have done a great war work in the past few years—just as Betsy Ross did a great war work in her day.

Commemorating Our 20th Anniversary in the Baking Business

It is such thought as this that has led the Morehouse Baking Company in celebrating its 20th Anniversary with the introduction of a new and superior loaf of bread, to choose for this bread the name of this famous American woman and patriot.

The name is especially apt for another reason. Our loaf is not unrelated to recent events. It is to some degree an outgrowth of wartime difficulties. The Morehouse Baking Company in its endeavor to produce a highly palatable bread in the face of war-time restrictions, engaged in study and research which taught some valuable general lessons in baking science.

These lessons apply to the baking of all-wheat bread, as well as to the baking of substitute bread. They have enabled us now to produce a finer all-wheat loaf than ever in the past. In offering a new bread, we also offer a BETTER bread—the best bread, we believe, which human ingenuity has yet succeeded in producing. If we knew how to make a better bread than Betsy Ross, we would do so.

BETSY ROSS BREAD GOES ON SALE TODAY IN NEARLY EVERY GROCERY STORE IN LOWELL

And Will Soon Be Available Throughout an Extended Territory

It is a loaf which will do honor to the little Colonial Lady for whom it is named, and to the women of our territory to whom it is dedicated. We believe you will find BETSY ROSS bread the finest you have ever tasted. Won't you try it today and put our opinion to the test?

"Today the red flag is recognized in the northern part of North Dakota, recognized at least by the leaders of the people there. They are a part of the men who under the name of the Non-Partisan league have got control of the entire state machinery. This was accomplished mainly through a man named Townley, who after having failed in an attempt to become a flax king, capitalized the discontent of farmers with the grain selling system so that they balloted all the league candidates into office. League organizers canvassed the country district in Ford automobiles and charged the middlemen and capitalists with

Surrounded by returned soldiers, sailors and marines, Governor Coolidge Saturday affixed his signature to the bill, based upon his own recommendation, providing that veterans of any war in which the United States was engaged shall be entitled to a preference in all civil service examinations. It stipulates that whenever a veteran passes the required examination, his name shall be placed on the likable list above the names of all who are not veterans.

ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOL ALUMNI CONCERT

Members of the sanctuary choir of St. Patrick's church, the Glee club of the C.Y.M.L. and other soloists united in presenting the annual concert of the alumni of St. Patrick's school last evening in the school hall and the affair was another scintillating reflection of the innate qualities of these musical organizations.

Successful financially and musically was the concert and tended to amplify both the public's appreciation of alumni affairs as well as the scholarship fund which sends a deserving graduate of the school to Boston college every year.

The sanctuary choir chorus had 60 expertly trained voices who were directed in the various numbers by Rev. Brother Niles, M. J. Johnson, organist of St. Patrick's church, was the accompanist for the choir.

Timothy F. Bohan directed 75 members of the C.Y.M.L. Glee club in a program of well received pieces. Charles P. Miner accompanied.

In addition 12 of the city's leading soloists also entertained and they, too.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY
A local council of the St. Vincent de Paul society was organized at St. Patrick's school hall yesterday afternoon by President McMurray of the Metropolitan Council of Boston, assisted by Secretary B. C. Kelley, W. H. Hardy and James F. Wise, also of the Boston council. The officers elected were: President, Humphrey O'Sullivan; vice president, Joseph Martin; secretary, William H. Gallagher; treasurer, Fred H. Bourke. Remarks were made by various local clergymen. The next meeting will be held at St. Joan Baptist church Wednesday evening.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE DUBLIN REBELLION
The third anniversary of the Dublin rebellion was observed last evening by the local branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom in A.O.U. hall. President P. J. Mahoney was in the chair and following the reading of the secretary's report and other routine business, Miss Helen Mahoney entertained with a piano solo and there were other entertainment numbers. Michael A. Sharkey, a vice president of the council, read an appropriate paper. John J. Gilbride spoke of the present political status of Ireland and said that it called for the utmost support of the people of that nation. He promised the solid backing of the younger element of the city to the older people who were fighting for self-determination for Ireland.

James O'Sullivan also urged hearty support of the campaign for funds which is to open in this city with a mass meeting next Sunday evening at which Hon. James M. Curley of Boston will be the speaker.

EMPLOYEES SUBMIT ARTICLES
At a recent meeting of the employees of the Saco-Lowell shops a new working agreement was drawn up and later presented to the company officials. The agreement consists of 12 or 14 articles, one of which it is said, calls for a 41-hour week with 52 hours' pay. It is not known what action the company officials will take, but the employees feel their agreement will be accepted.

FORWARD INTEREST IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

A Lowell committee to forward the interests of the League of Nations as a subsidiary branch of the Massachusetts committee of the same nature was formed last evening at a meeting of the committee appointed some time ago by Mayor Perry D. Thompson to clear up the work of the public safety committee. Mayor Thompson was chosen chairman and Ira M. Boothby secretary. The personnel of the committee embraces members of the former public safety committee as well as the local branch of the League to Enforce Peace. It numbers about 100.

The purpose of the committee is to give the public of this city every opportunity to learn of the details of the League of Nations plan and it is hoped to have frequent meetings here to be addressed by speakers of national reputation. It is also planned to have a debate on the subject between prominent men. The committee will also interest itself in the distribution of literature on the subject. Courtney Crocker, a member of the state committee, addressed last evening's meeting.

DIED SUDDENLY
While visiting at 7 Sawtelle place Saturday evening, Mary Murphy, of 545 Middlesex street, was taken ill and died before medical attendance reached her. The woman had not been feeling well for some time, but it was not thought her condition was so serious. The body was removed to her home where it was examined by Medical Examiner T. B. Smith, who signed the death certificate, "Bright's disease."

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Thomas Mahon of Philadelphia, general organizer for the Clan-na-Gael society, was the principal speaker at a largely attended meeting of the local members of the organization, which was held yesterday forenoon. The speaker stated that the solidarity of Irish opinion would win out for self-determination for that island, and he said he thought the peace conference would not adjourn without coming to a decision on the matter. At the close of the address, which was listened to with great interest, an entertainment program was given.

A. O. H. Central Council
A well attended meeting of the members of the Central council, A.O.H. was held yesterday afternoon in A.O.H. hall and the organization pledged its full support to the coming Irish drive in this city. The meeting was presided over by President John Kenney.
